A World Apart and Other Stories Kathleen Hayes, 2022-12-01 It grew dark and a mist spread over the countryside like a curtain We were at the Bohemian border Customs control shouting the din of the station and finally the train moved on with a monotonous drone It was right here that I met Teresa Elinson Marta said in the corner of the cozy compartment I replied Who is Teresa Elinson I don't remember you ever mentioning her No never It was a kind of adventure That time too the train hurtled into the dark where red sparks flew and lights flashed scattering in the mist Thus begins the story by R ena Jesensk that gives this book its name In this anthology Kathleen Hayes has selected and translated eight stories by Czech female authors at the turn of the 19th and 20th century a period of female political emancipation and impressive literary development All of the writers included in the present volume were recognized in their own day and constitute a cross section of the literary styles of the period Tilschov's A Sad Time is written in a Naturalist style Jesensk's A World Apart presents themes and motifs that appealed to the Decadents Malov's The Sylph is both diaristic and satirical while Svobodov's ironical A Great Passion with its rural setting and folklore motifs reminds one of the writings of Karel Jaromír Erben Preissova's short story may be read as a celebration of folk culture Benešova's Friends is interesting for its psychological presentation of a child's point of view and its implicit criticism of anti-Semitism The book is accompanied by the biographies of each author and an introduction by Kathleen Hayes

The Philosophical Contexts of Sartre's The Wall and Other Stories Kevin W. Sweeney, 2016-05-16 The Philosophical Contexts of Sartre's The Wall and Other Stories Stories of Bad Faith presents a philosophical analysis of all five stories in Sartre's short story collection Kevin W. Sweeney argues that each of the five stories has its own philosophical idea or problem that serves as the context for the narrative Sartre constructs each story as a reply to the philosophical issue in the context and as support for his position on that issue In the opening story The Wall Sartre uses the Constant Kant debate to support his view that the story's protagonist is responsible for his ally's death. The Room presents in narrative form Sartre's criticism that the Freudian Censor is acting in bad faith. In Erostratus Sartre opposes Descartes's claim in his hats and coats example that we recognize the humanity of others by using our reason. In Intimacy Sartre again opposes a Cartesian position; this time the view that our feelings reveal our emotions. Sartre counters that Cartesian view by showing that the two women in the story act in bad faith because they do not distinguish their feelings from their emotions. The last story, The Childhood of a Leader, shows how the protagonist acts in bad faith in trying to resolve the question of who he is by appealing to the view that one's roots in nature can provide one with a substantial identity. The stories are unified by showing the characters in all five narratives engaged in different acts of bad faith.

The Philosophical Contexts of Sartre's The Wall and *Other Stories is written for scholars interested in Jean Paul Sartre's early literary and philosophical work as well as for students interested in Sartre and twentieth-century French literature.

The Bottom of the World and other stories John Coleman Burroughs, Hulbert Burroughs, Jane Ralston Burroughs, 2014-07-02. John Coleman Burroughs and Jane Ralston Burroughs wrote Hybrid of Horror. John Coleman and his brother Hulbert wrote The Man Without a World, The Lightning Men, and The Bottom of the World.
