George Yeo On Bonsai, Banyan And The Tao Asad-ul Iqbal Latif,Huay Leng Lee,2015-05-18 Since his undergraduate days in Cambridge George Yeo has spoken and written much in and out of government Many remember the things which he said or wrote years ago This book is a compilation of some of his best speeches and writings which were selected by Asad Latif and Lee Huay Leng in consultation with him The book has a rather unusual title because there are many aspects to George Yeo which makes him difficult to classify As a student leader he was radical but conciliatory In the Singapore Armed Forces he was atypical moving from the Army to the Air Force before becoming Director of Joint Operations and Planning In politics he is fondly remembered by artists journalists doctors businessmen and foreign diplomats and by his colleagues and constituents His own staff said he had a curious mind They complained that he rarely used the drafts which they had prepared for him George Yeo describes himself as a Taoist even though he is a Roman Catholic and is now on the Papal staff Buddhists are surprised he championed the revival of Nalanda University as an international project He remains close to Singaporeans of different races and religions even though he has a deep sense of his own ancestral roots and religion In politics he has been described both as a liberal and a conservative In his Parliamentary maiden speech he spoke of the importance of democracy but has repeated many times that democracy is only a means and not an end in itself He has a deep interest in history which partly explains his seeing the re emergence of China and India earlier than most others The bonsai and the banyan are metaphors he uses for Singapore Singapore is a city state and must never have an inflated view of itself The bonsai describes Singapore modestly but he adds that the bonsai can be intensely interesting and valuable The banyan provides shade and we are grateful for it but too much makes us weak As for the Tao that perhaps is what gives unity to his many interests

A History of Children's Play Brian Sutton-Smith,2016-11-11 New Zealand children from 1840 to 1890 were subjected to an unusual combination of agrarian existence and an industrial social philosophy in the newly formed schools When schools became more universal in the expanding industrial society a new emphasis on the control of children developed and from 1920 onward adult supervision in the form of heavily organized sports and playgrounds encroached more and more on the untrammelled freedom of the rural environment Returning to his home country of New Zealand Brian Sutton Smith documents the relationship between children s play and the actual process of history Drawing on interviews with hundreds of informants from every province and school district of New Zealand the author illuminates for the first time the various social cultural historical and psychological context in which children s play occurs He treats both formal and informal play as well as the play of both boys and girls

Minter,Harry Greene,2023-09-12 Zoos have always had a troubled relationship to what is considered the real wild Even the most immersive and naturalistic zoos critics maintain are inherently contrived and inauthentic environments Zoo animals diet care and reproduction are under pervasive human control with natural phenomena like disease and death kept mostly hidden from public view Furthermore despite their growing commitment to conservation and education zoos are entertainment providers that respond to visitors expectations and preferences What would a wilder zoo one that shows the public a wider range of ecological processes look like Is it achievable or even desirable What roles can or should zoos play in encouraging humanity to find meaningful connections with wild animals and places A Wilder Kingdom is a provocative and reflective examination of the relationship between zoos and the wild It gathers a premier set of multidisciplinary voices from animal studies and psychology to evolutionary biology and environmental journalism to consider the possibilities and challenges of making zoos wilder In so doing the contributors offer new insights into the future of the wild beyond zoos and our relationship to wild species and places across the landscape in an increasingly human dominated era Report of the Board of Park Commissioners of Wilmington, Del. ... ,1903 Zookeeping Mark D.
