

COURSE TITLE: Communication for Corporate, Non-Profit and Government Organizations
COURSE CODE: TCM 317a
MODULE NO. : 1
TITLE : Introduction to Organizational Communication

Intended Learning Outcomes (ILO):

1. Define Organizational Communication
2. Identify the Purpose of Communication Organizations
3. Explain the Importance of Communication in Organizations

Communication in Organization Defined:

Organizational communication is defined as the sending and receiving of messages among interrelated individuals within a particular environment or setting to achieve individual and common goals.

Organizational communication is highly contextual and culturally dependent. Individuals in organizations transmit messages through face-to-face, written, and mediated channels. It largely focuses on building relationships and interacting with internal organizational members and interested external publics.

Much of the communication in the organization involves transmitting relatively unproblematic messages and the members of the organization acting on that information. Other times things are a bit more complex, such as when there is a need to resolve a conflict.

In this context, communication is engaging in a complex process of meaning and negotiating rules created by the people involved.
