Agricultural Market Intervention And Pricing Policies In Africa:

Agricultural Market Intervention and Pricing Policies in Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1989-01-01 Development Strategy and the Economy of Sierra Leone John Weeks,1992-06-18 A study of the history of Sierra Leone concentrating on economic aspects Conclusions and possible alternatives are put forward by the author Social Valuation in Agricultural Policy Analysis Matthew Okai,2019-01-04 First published in 1999 this volume is intended to encourage appreciation of the cardinal significance for integrating macroeconomic policy variables and environmental factors and any other relevant externalities into sectoral policy analysis as a tool for improving choice of strategic factors in agricultural development investment of allocative efficiency in agriculture and environmental protection and overall agricultural development management The main concern of Matthew Okai is for choosing realistic policy instruments to promote development quantifying constraints and evaluating the impacts of policy on objectives Effects of Panterritorial Pricing Policy for Maize in Tanzania Yuriko Suzuki,Andrew Bernard,1987 Main characteristics of production and marketing of maize Parallel markets in a controlled price framework Panterritorial pricing policy Comparative analysis of alternative options Discretionary maize policy interventions in Malawi Edelman, Brent,2016-07-28 This study assesses the efficacy of maize export bans in improving food security in Malawi and of minimum farm gate prices in increasing the incomes of Malawian smallholder farmers It relies primarily on price and trade flow analysis using secondary data In brief the analysis shows that neither tool has been particularly effective in recent years in achieving their stated policy objectives On the contrary both maize export bans and minimum farm gate prices have been mostly non binding or even counterproductive in their effects Agricultural Price Policy Isabelle Tsakok,2019-05-15 Many governments of developing countries burdened with international debt are under ever increasing pressure to use their scarce economic resources wisely Faced with slow progress in alleviating poverty and stimulating economic growth they especially need to end wasteful subsidies and revise inefficient tax policies This book will help staff members of government planning agencies and ministries of finance and agriculture to analyze the effects of government policies on the production consumption and export of agricultural commodities The analytical techniques that Isabelle Tsakok demonstrates in this book are the essential first step in reforming agricultural price policy to bring about a more efficient allocation of resources After mastering the techniques of single market partial equilibrium analysis which are the book s focus policy analysts can use the techniques to identify when more sophisticated methods such as multi market analysis and computable general equilibrium models are needed to determine what agricultural price policies are right Tsakok begins with graphical analysis and data requirements in order to build intuitive understanding and progresses through steadily more complex techniques demonstrating step by step the calculation of domestic resource costs effective rates of protection and related coefficients of protection Providing a wide range of numerical real world examples to illustrate the practical application of the partial equilibrium framework

Townsend, 1999-01-01 Printed on Demand Limited stock is held for this title If you would like to order 30 copies or more please contact books.worldbank.org Contact books.worldbank.org if currently unavailable QUOTE As we move into the 21st century Africa faces tremendous opportunities for growth in which agriculture will continue to play a prominent role Implementing the unfinished policy agenda is critical to realizing these opportunities QUOTE Hans P. Binswanger Sector Director The main focus of this study is on improving the policy regime in Africa to stimulate agricultural growth It examines the state of agricultural incentives in Sub-Saharan Africa taking stock of the current policy environment and its recent evolution to update knowledge and to help develop a stronger consensus on the appropriate policies and incentives that will stimulate agricultural growth The global environment is examined together with the macroeconomic export crop food crop and fertilizer policies in 16 African countries The State and Domestic Agricultural Markets in Nicaragua Max Spoor, 2016-07-27 The book examines in depth the problematic effects of state intervention in agricultural markets of developing countries against the background of the current transition of interventionism to neo liberalism The fascinating case of Nicaragua is explored focusing on the 1979-1990 interventionist period under Sandinista rule followed by an analysis of the post 1990 laissez faire UNO period The limits of state intervention are shown by analysing in detail the unintended effects of certain policies such as those on land reform price credit and technology Finally the book draws comparisons between the Nicaraguan case in which two transitions took place in a relatively short time span and the recent dramatic transformations of Eastern Europe It provides arguments for a different role for the state in this process which is directed to market development rather than the current withdrawal A Blighted Harvest Peter Gibbon, Kjell J. Havnevik, Kenneth Hermele, 1993 An in depth look at the social and political results of the World Bank agricultural adjustment policies
