Seeing Trees Sonja Dümpelmann, 2019-01-01 A deep dive into urban society's need for and relationship with trees that sought to return the natural world to the concrete jungle Adrian Higgins Washington Post Winner of the Foundation for Landscape Studies 2019 John Brinckerhoff Jackson Prize Today cities around the globe are planting street trees to mitigate the effects of climate change However as landscape historian Sonja Dümpelmann explains the planting of street trees in cities to serve specific functions is not a new phenomenon In her eye opening work Dümpelmann shows how New York City and Berlin began systematically planting trees to improve the urban climate during the nineteenth century presenting the history of the practice within its larger social cultural and political contexts A unique integration of empirical research and theory Dümpelmann's richly illustrated work uncovers this important untold story Street trees variously regarded as sanitizers nuisances upholders of virtue economic engines and more reflect the changing relationship between humans and nonhuman nature in urban environments Offering valuable insights and frameworks this authoritative volume will be an important resource for years to come

Joseph Beuys Claudia Mesch, 2017-04-15 Joseph Beuys is one of the most important and controversial German artists of the late twentieth century an artist whose persona and art is so tightly interwoven with Germany's fascist past Beuys was after all a former soldier in the Third Reich that he has been a problematic figure for postwar and post reunification Germany In illuminating the centrality of trauma and the sustained investigation of the notion of art as the two defining threads in Beuys's life and art this book offers a critical biography that deepens our understanding of his many works and their contribution Claudia Mesch analyzes the aspects of Beuys's works that have most offended audiences especially the self woven legend of redemption that many have felt was a dubious and inappropriate fantasy for a former Nazi soldier to engage As she argues however Beuys's self mythology confronted post traumatic life head on foregrounding a struggle for psychic recovery Following Beuys's exhibitions in the 1970s she traces how he both expanded the art world beyond the established regional centers and paved the way for future artists interested in activism as art Exploring Beuys's expansive conceptions of what art is and following him into the realms of science politics and spirituality Mesch ultimately demonstrates the ways that his own myth making acted as a positive force in the Germany's postwar reckoning with its past
