

Advanced Educational Psychology

"Education is what survives when what has been learned has been forgotten".
-R.E. Nelson

This authoritative and expanded first edition of the book 'Advanced Educational Psychology' will surely be received by the learners and learning facilitators/communities for its depth analysis and interesting approach to the subject. Beginning with an introduction to the nature, scope and the various schools of psychology, the book discusses the systems propounded by Freud, Jung and Piaget taking into account their critical importance to the subject. The book focuses on the Psychology of growth and development, Psychology of individual differences, Motivation, Personality, with an emphasis on the individual's attitude towards learning, Transfer of Learning, Emotional Development, Emotional Intelligence, Learning Disabilities and Learning Disabled Children and the factors influencing learning. The book also elaborates the nature and theories of learning and the aspects of memory such as retention, remembering and forgetting. The cognitive aspect, i.e. intelligence, and vital topics like creativity and the psychology of thinking, reasoning and problem-solving have been presented with due prominence. A detailed discussion on exceptional children and learning disabled children together with the educational measures for overcoming the problems of such learners is also included. The book concludes with an important aspect of learner behaviour, namely adjustment. Interspersed with illustrations, this book will surely suit to graduate, postgraduate and other advanced learners of Education, Psychology and other allied subjects. It can also be profitably used by teachers, teacher-educators, guidance and counselling personnel, and administrators of educational institutions.
