Is My African Grey Parrot Guaranteed to Talk?

No. There is no guarantee that an African grey will talk. However, the majority of grey parrots are African grey and do talk. In fact, African grey parrots are known to be the most intelligent of all parrots.

It is about the individual African grey, and it is not as easy as it sounds. Some grey parrots are very intelligent and will talk, while others are not. The only way to know for sure is to ask the breeder or the person who is selling the bird. They will usually be happy to answer any questions you have about the bird and its abilities.
