African Textualities:

African Textualities Bernth Lindfors, 1997 African literary texts can be approached in a variety of ways They may be examined in isolation as verbal artifacts that have a unique integrity They may be studied in relation to other texts that preceded and followed them Or they may be seen against the backdrop of the times traditions and circumstances that helped to shape them In this book all these approaches have been utilized sometimes singly sometimes in combination African City Textualities Ranka Primorac, 2013-09-13 The stereotype of Africa as a predominantly natural space ignores the existence of vibrant and cosmopolitan urban environments on the continent Far from merely embodying backwardness and lack African cities are sites of complex and diverse cultural productions which participate in modernity and its dynamics of global flows and exchanges This volume merges the concerns of urban literary and cultural studies by focusing on the flows and exchanges of texts and textual elements By analysing how texts such as popular and canonical fiction popular music self help pamphlets graffiti films journalistic writing rumours and urban legends engage with the problems of citizenship self organisation and survival the collection shows that despite all the problems of Africa its cities continue to engender forward looking creativity and hope The texts collected here belong to several different genres themselves and they are authored by both distinguished and younger scholars based in and outside of Africa The volume explores the textualities emerging from the cities of Senegal Nigeria Ghana Uganda Kenya Zambia Zimbabwe and South Africa Above all it calls for an end to disabling hierarchical categorisations of both texts and cities This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Postcolonial Writing African Literatures in English Gareth Griffiths, 2014-09-19 Here is an introduction to the history of English writing from East and West Africa drawing on a range of texts from the slave diaspora to the post war upsurge in African English language and literature from these regions African Literature Jonathan P. Smithe, 2002 African literature like the continent itself is enormous and diverse East Africa s literature is different from West Africa s which is quite different from South Africa s which has different influences on it than North Africa s Africa s literature is based on a widespread heritage of oral literature some of which has now been recorded Arabic influence can be detected as well as European especially French and English Legends myths proverbs riddles and folktales form the mother load of the oral literature This book presents an overview of African literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography primarily of English language sources Accessed by subject author and title indexes African Shakespeare Ifeoluwa Aboluwa, Serena Talento, Pepetual Mforbe Chiangong, Oliver Nyambi, 2025-02-17 African Shakespeare Subversions Appropriations Negotiations uncovers the multidimensional inventions synergies and experimentations that have emerged from performative political literary and conceptual encounters with Shakespeare and his oeuvre in African contexts Divided into three broad and overlapping parts the chapters of the book critically explore issues of decoloniality and postcoloniality nation building and state corruption history and memory gender and feminism translation and adaptation from diverse theoretical standpoints The book displaces the emphasis on Shakespeare's works to productively illuminate the multi-layered significance of African epistemes politico-aesthetics languages and socio-cultural realities to the practice and process of literary and theatrical intervention and creation Building on and extending extant scholarship in the field of African Shakespeare the contributions in the volume not only enhance knowledge of African Shakespearean creations but also enrich African Studies and Shakespeare Studies by opening up new possibilities for transdisciplinary dialogues and cross-fertilization The book will be useful for students and scholars of African Theatre and Performance Cultural Studies Global Shakespeare Studies Translation and Adaptation Studies and Post-colonial Studies

Eastern African Literatures Russell West-Pavlov, 2018-06-04 The Oxford Studies in Postcolonial Literatures series offers stimulating and accessible introductions to definitive topics and key genres and regions within the rapidly diversifying field of postcolonial literary studies in English This volume offers an overview of contemporary Eastern African writing in English since the mid-twentieth century It takes a fresh look at what has been an under-represented regional literary tradition within what continues to be an under-represented continental literary tradition In particular it broadens the scope of such an overview complementing the extant monographs on well-known Eastern African writers such as Ngũgĩ to include a host of more recent less publicized novelists dramatists and poets It extends the geographical range of existing studies from the familiar triad of Kenyan Ugandan and Tanzanian traditions of writing in English to include the lesser known Somali Ethiopian or Sudanese or Mauritian or Madagascan traditions Rather than simply addressing national traditions or broad thematic bundles the volume treats works as literatures of a region that is as literatures of place and space Eastern African Literatures stresses the formative role of space place and geography in fashioning the fabric of social interaction whether individual or collective in generating history in moulding identities and as a consequence in defining the shape of the future The spatial perspectives allow the proximate rather than the distant influence of literary art to come into view Proximate modes of literary communication arising out of residual but vibrant traditions of oral communication blend with contemporary media to produce hybrid genres of proximity specific to Eastern African literary production In this way the book also makes a contribution to the ongoing theorization of literary and cultural innovation in the cultures of the Global South
