Anthropology Of Policy Critical Perspectives On Governance And Power:

Anthropology of Policy Cris Shore, Susan Wright, 1997 This book argues that policy has become an increasingly central concept in the organisation of contemporary societies and that it now impinges on all areas of life so that it is virtually impossible to ignore or escape its influence

Anthropology of Policy Cris Shore, Susan Wright, 2003-12-16 Arguing that policy has become an increasingly central concept and instrument in the organisation of contemporary societies and that it now impinges on all areas of life so that it is virtually impossible to ignore or escape its influence this book argues that the study of policy leads straight into issues at the heart of anthropology Anthropology of Policy Cris Shore, 1997

Anthropology of Policy argues that policy has become an increasingly central organizing principle in contemporary societies shaping the way we live act and think This book shows how anthropological approaches to policy can provide insights into a range of contemporary issues from equal opportunities to health care from AIDS to housing policies Despite the importance of policy as a key institution of modern society it remains curiously under theorized and lacking in critical analysis In questioning and explaining policy's language and its links with power the contributors challenge the accepted notion of policy as rational and progressively linear and pave the way for further research This title available in eBook format here for more information Visit our eBookstore at The Anthropology of Education Policy Angelina E. Castagno, Teresa

McCarty, 2017-07-06 Advancing a rapidly growing field of social science inquiry the anthropology of policy this volume extends and solidifies this body of work focusing on education policy Its goal is to examine timely issues in education policy from a critical anthropological ethnographic and comparative perspective and through this to theorize new ways of understanding how policy does its work At the center is a commitment to an engaged anthropology of education policy that uses anthropological knowledge to imagine and foster more equitable and just forms of schooling The authors examine the ways in which education policy processes create reflect and contest regimes of knowledge and power sorting and stratifying people ideas and resources in particular ways In contrast to conventional analyses of policy as text based dictated linear and rational an anthropological perspective positions policy at the interface of top down bottom up and meso level processes and as de facto and de jure Demonstrating how education policy operates as a social cultural and deeply ideological process on the ground each chapter clearly delineates the implications of these understandings for educational access opportunity and equity Providing a single go to source on the disciplinary history theoretical framework methodology and empirical applications of the anthropology of education policy across a range of education topics policy debates and settings the book updates and expands on seminal works in the field carving out an important niche in anthropological studies of public policy

Prostitution Policy in the Nordic Region May-Len Skilbrei, Charlotta Holmström, 2016-04-08 There is great interest internationally in the development of prostitution policies in the Nordic countries after Sweden Norway and Iceland have introduced general bans against buying sex whilst selling sex remains legal In addition there is a partial ban against buying sex in Finland This is a different approach from that of several other European countries where we have seen a decriminalisation of third party involvement in prostitution as well as to that of the USA which criminalises both the buying and selling of sexual services Thus the Nordic countries are often treated as representatives of a Nordic model of prostitution policies In this book the first on the subject Skilbrei and Holmström argue that these models of policies or policy regimes tend to ignore the trajectories contexts and consequences of the full range of approaches to prostitution thus they are too simplistic and static Prostitution policies in the Nordic countries are multifaceted and dynamic and cannot be represented as following a straight path and detached from empirical contexts Their analysis treats Nordic prostitution policies both as a product of history of current national and Nordic debates and of international obligations and changes in the international and national prostitution markets Furthermore they argue that a broad understanding of the relevant context is necessary so as to place Nordic prostitution policies within broader policy concerns related to gender class ethnicity sexuality social welfare immigration and organised crime as well as to neoliberal forms of governance

Competing Responsibilities

Susanna Trnka, Catherine Trundle, 2017-03-09 Noting the pervasiveness of the adoption of responsibility as a core ideal of neoliberal governance the contributors to Competing Responsibilities challenge contemporary understandings and critiques of that concept in political social and ethical life They reveal that neoliberalism's reification of the responsible subject masks the myriad forms of individual and collective responsibility that people engage with in their everyday lives from accountability self sufficiency and prudence to care obligation and culpability The essays which combine social theory with ethnographic research from Europe North America Africa and New Zealand address a wide range of topics including critiques of corporate social responsibility practices the relationships between public and private responsibilities in the context of state violence the tension between calls on individuals and imperatives to groups to prevent the transmission of HIV audit culture and how health is cast as a citizenship issue Competing Responsibilities allows for the examination of modes of responsibility that extend challenge or coexist with the neoliberal focus on the individual cultivation of the self Contributors Barry D Adam Elizabeth Anne Davis Filippa Lentzos Jessica Robbins Ruszkowski Nikolas Rose Rosalind Shaw Cris Shore Jessica M Smith Susanna Trnka Catherine Trundle Jarrett Zigon

Geographies of Mobility

Mei-Po Kwan, Tim Schwanen, 2018-10-11 This book seeks to bring together different philosophical theoretical and methodological approaches to the study of human mobility within the discipline of geography With five thematic sections conceptualizing and analyzing mobility inequalities of mobility politics of mobility decentering mobility and qualifying abstraction and 27 substantive chapters by leading researchers in the field it provides a comprehensive overview of the latest thinking about human mobility and related issues The contributors discuss mobility issues as diverse as everyday mobilities of young people migrants and refugees and sex workers the relationships between citizenship and mobility and the potential and pitfalls of big data for understanding mobility This coupled with a broad international focus means that Geographies of Mobility will not only encourage and enrich dialogue on a theme that is of major importance to varied geographic research communities but will also be of great interest to students and researchers across the wider social sciences This book was originally published as a special issue of Annals of the American Association of Geographers The Oxford Handbook of Political Leadership R. A. W. Rhodes, Paul 't Hart, 2014 Political leadership has returned to the forefront of research in political science in recent years after several years of neglect This Handbook provides a broad ranging and cohesive examination of the study of political leadership Franchised States and the Bureaucracy of Peace Niels Nagelhus Schia, 2017-10-30 This book examines a new type of state formation evoked by the rise of transnational rule what Schia calls franchised states Drawing on anthropological studying through fieldwork within the UN organization he demonstrates how peacebuilding activities turned Liberia into an object of governing whereby the UN in seeking to build the state also became the state The sovereign state of Liberia here emerges as a franchise rather than a self contained entity Two implications follow First that international peacebuilding turns post conflict countries into clients of the international community Second that sovereignty is no longer exclusively associated with the state it is organized in and through specific practices of governing where a state actor is only one among a range of actors With these findings the book moves beyond previous work on peacebuilding by focusing on the unbundling of sovereignty It contributes to the literature on the changing forms of sovereignty by showing the specific ways in which sovereignty is organized packaged and enacted often by actors working under international auspices This book will be of interest to practitioners and students interested in international organizations international relations the study of international practices UN and peacebuilding Home-Land: Romanian Roma, Domestic Spaces and the State Rachel Humphris, 2019-03-26 In contemporary society passport checks at nation state borders are accepted But what if these checks were happening in our own home This book is the first intimate ethnography of these governing encounters in the home space between Romanian Roma migrants and local frontline workers Focusing on how the nation state is reproduced within the home the book considers what it is like to have your legal status your right to belong judged from your everyday domestic life In essence this book is about the divide between state and family home land and home and what it means for the new rules of citizenship
