Anthology of Magazine Verse for 1917 William Stanley Braithwaite,2015-07-12 Excerpt from Anthology of Magazine Verse for 1917 And Yearbook of American Poetry All the glamour about our present Renaissance of poetry carries with it a palpable danger the danger of disintegrating criticism My belief is that the year 1916 may be the pivot upon which the art of poetry in America will advance or recede Poets are born but fine poetry is encouraged by public patronage and appreciation Neither patronage nor appreciation is to be had from the public if criticism poisons the art at its root The tradition of criticism is nearly always the attempt to do this Francis Jeffrey stands as the typical example of the destructive critic who gave us no insight into his personal knowledge of life and now nobody reads him except out of curiosity Charles Lamb is a typical example of the creative critic who seeks in his author a contact with life he is not erudite but human he measures rather than judges and so we never cease to delight in his wisdom With these examples the right aims of criticism ought to appear quite positive Contrary to popular belief and the theory of literary individuals criticism is not a judgment of literary styles and materials but an interpretation of life through the creative use of language and expression Not the form but the substance is the main thing About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections
