Antipodeans Challenge And Response In Australian Art 1955 1965:

"Australian Art and Artists in London, 1950-1965" Simon Pierse, 2017-07-05 Subtle and wide ranging in its account this study explores the impact of Australian art in Britain in the two decades following the end of World War II and preceding the Swinging Sixties In a transitional period of decolonization in Britain Australian painting was briefly seized upon as a dynamic and reinvigorating force in contemporary art and a group of Australian artists settled in London where they held centre stage with group and solo exhibitions in the capital's most prestigious galleries The book traces the key influences of Sir Kenneth Clark Bernard Smith and Bryan Robertson in their various and varying roles as patrons ideologues and entrepreneurs for Australian art as well as the self definition and interaction of the artists themselves Simon Pierse interweaves multiple issues of the period into a cohesive historical narrative including the mechanics of the British art world the limited and frustrating cultural scene of 1950s Australia and the conservative influence of Australian government bodies Publishing for the first time archival material letters and photographs previously unavailable to scholars either in Britain or Australia this book demonstrates how the work of expatriate Australian artists living in London constructed a distinct vision of Australian identity for a foreign market

The Antipodeans Deborah Clark, 1999 In 1959 in Melbourne seven artists and an art historian came together to defend and to champion the place of the image in art The group comprised Charles Blackman Arthur Boyd David Boyd John Brack John Perceval Clifton Pugh and Robert Dickerson who as the Antipodeans held just one exhibition together at the Victorian Artists Society in August 1959 Bernard Smith the only non painter of the group drafted The Antipodean Manifesto which accompanied the exhibition The Antipodeans defended the figurative image against abstraction and contemporary Australian art as opposed to European modernism They worried that art was losing its humanistic values that it was becoming obsessed with abstract decoration at the expense of recognizable signs and symbols that while making great claims for its spiritual depths it threatened to alienate a broad cross section of the public Forty years later this volume shows the work of artists from the original Antipodean group in the context of abstract art of the period and demonstrates that at the end of the century both the Antipodeans and their abstract antagonists have taken on the status of classics

Yvonne Audette Christopher Heathcote, Yvonne Audette, 2003 This monograph traces an unusual life dedicated to the arts Audette's career as a painter and artist specialising in works on paper has now spanned near six decades from Sydney where she studied and modelled for Max Dupain to Europe Italy and Spain in the post war years when abstract expressionism was the dominant new trend

The Life and Work of Ante Dabro, Australian-Croatian Sculptor Peter Read, 2023-12-05 Why does a highly skilled and highly trained sculptor the master of every style and technique insist on working in the style of the Italian Renaissance The answer is that to Dabro every sculpture must speak to humanity which means that it must be an element of humanity If it does not the sculptor has failed Working with female models throughout his long life he has sought to portray an essence of femininity and therefore an essence of humanity Ante Dabro believes that the ability to see what other people don't see is a real gift. He says it's like a star wheeling round the earth fertilising the imagination as it goes. This book explores the different ways he has liberated an essence of humanity by releasing the soul of a human form from its imprisoning substance whether it be from wood, marble, stone or plaster. The author, one of Australia's best known historians and biographers like Dabro, wants our imaginations to soar and rejoice in the creative spirit which has driven his sculptures for more than 60 years.

Australian Art in the National Gallery of Australia National Gallery of Australia, Anne Gray, 2002. This broad sweeping survey of the National Gallery's paintings, sculptures, drawings, prints, photographs and decorative arts and design collections features more than 400 works. Indigenous and non-Indigenous works are represented with iconic favourites such as Sidney Nolan's Ned Kelly series set alongside important but lesser known acquisitions. The works are arranged in chronological order from 1770 to 2002. Pre-colonial and Colonial through to Art Now. Insightful essays from over 50 artists, curators and scholars range from personal reflections by artists discussing their own works to more discursive or critical commentaries placing works in their historical context.

Modernism & Australia Ann Stephen, Andrew McNamara, Philip Goad, 2006. This first anthology of modernist art, design and architecture in Australia reveals the raw nerves that modernism exposed and highlights the role of migrants, expatriates, travel and mass reproduction in the reception of modernism in Australia. In more than two hundred documents, talks, letters, fiery debates, public manifestoes and private diaries, the main players of the time 1917-67 convey in their own words the tensions, aspirations and paradoxes behind the reception of modernism. Each document is put in context and accompanied by expert commentaries from the editors. The collection overturns many key assumptions about Australian culture, revealing not a time lag in reception but an up-to-date engagement with the latest overseas trends and developments. It shows a surprising acceptance of modernism in the commercial realms: design, fashion, interior decoration, yet chronicles the dogged institutional resistance that greeted modernism particularly in the fine arts.

Guy Grey-Smith: Life Force Andrew Gaynor, 2012. Guy Grey-Smith 1916-1981 remains one of the most important Australian artists of his generation. His artwork has been collected by every major public gallery in the country. Based in Western Australia, Grey-Smith exhibited nationally, participated in key international exhibitions, received Queens Honours Awards and was a spirited contributor and active participant in the national arts scene. Granted access for the first time to Guy Grey-Smith's notebooks, war-time sketches, correspondence and estate, author Andrew Gaynor draws a fascinating portrait of a country boy whose life was first liberated then stalled by the brutality of war. Teaching himself to draw while interned in prisoner-of-war camps, Grey-Smith went on to create some of the most enduring and powerful images of the Australian landscape, redolent with color, texture and an unmistakable life force. He studied under the modernist sculptor Henry Moore at the Chelsea School of Art, London. Although primarily a painter, Grey-Smith also produced sculptures, pen and ink drawings, etchings and wood blocks. This is the first book about this outstanding Australian artist and his remarkable 35-year career.
