A Departure From The Script:

Departure from the Script Jae, 2014-06-30 Aspiring actress Amanda Clark and photographer Michelle Osinski are two women burned by love and not looking to test the fire again And even if they were it certainly wouldn't be with each other Amanda has never been attracted to a butch woman before and Michelle personifies the term butch Having just landed a role on a hot new TV show she's determined to focus on her career and doesn't need any complications in her life After a turbulent breakup with her starlet ex Michelle swore she would never get involved with an actress again Another high maintenance woman is the last thing she wants and her first encounter with Amanda certainly makes her appear the type But after a date that is not a date and some meddling from Amanda's grandmother they both begin to wonder if it's not time for a departure from their usual dating scripts The Samaritan Pentateuch and the Origin of the Samaritan Sect James D.

Purvis, 2019-11-26 Based on the author's thesis Harvard 1962 Bibliography p 130 142 Remorse, Penal Theory and Sentencing Hannah Maslen, 2015-04-30 This monograph addresses a contested but under discussed question in the field of criminal sentencing should an offender's remorse affect the sentence he or she receives Answering this question involves tackling a series of others is it possible to justify mitigation for remorse within a retributive sentencing framework Precisely how should remorse enter into the sentencing equation How should the mitigating weight of remorse interact with other aggravating and mitigating factors Are there some offence or offender characteristics that preclude remorse based mitigation Remorse is recognised as a legitimate mitigating factor in many sentencing regimes around the world with powerful effects on sentence severity Although there has been some discussion of whether this practice can be justified within the literature on sentencing and penal theory this monograph provides the first comprehensive and in depth study of possible theoretical justifications Whilst the emphasis here is on theoretical justification the monograph also offers analysis of how normative conclusions would play out in the broader context of sentencing decisions and the guidance intended to structure them The conclusions reached have relevance for sentencing systems around the world Audacious Euphony

Richard Cohn, 2012-01-01 Music theorists have long believed that 19th century triadic progressions idiomatically extend the diatonic syntax of 18th century classical tonality and have accordingly unified the two repertoires under a single mode of representation Post structuralist musicologists have challenged this belief advancing the view that many romantic triadic progressions exceed the reach of classical syntax and are mobilized as the result of a transgressive anti syntactic impulse In Audacious Euphony author Richard Cohn takes both of these views to task arguing that romantic harmony operates under syntactic principles distinct from those that underlie classical tonality but no less susceptible to systematic definition Charting this alternative triadic syntax Cohn reconceives what consonant triads are and how they relate to one another In doing so he shows that major and minor triads have two distinct natures one based on their acoustic properties and the other on their ability to voice lead smoothly to each other in the chromatic universe Whereas their acoustic nature underlies the diatonic tonality of the classical tradition their voice leading properties are optimized by the pan triadic progressions characteristic of the 19th century Audacious Euphony develops a set of inter related maps that organize intuitions about triadic proximity as seen through the lens of voice leading proximity using various geometries related to the 19th century Tonnetz This model leads to cogent analyses both of particular compositions and of historical trends across the long nineteenth century Essential reading for music theorists Audacious Euphony is also a valuable resource for music historians performers and composers

The Narratological Analysis of Lyric Poetry Peter Hühn, Jens Kiefer, 2011-08-11 This study offers a fresh approach to the theory and practice of poetry criticism from a narratological perspective Arguing that lyric poems share basic constituents of narration with prose fiction namely temporal sequentiality of events and verbal mediation the authors propose the transgeneric application of narratology to the poetic genre with the aim of utilizing the sophisticated framework of narratological categories for a more precise and complex modeling of the poetic text On this basis the study provides a new impetus to the neglected field of poetic theory as well as to methodology The practical value of such an approach is then demonstrated by detailed model analyses of canonical English poems from all major periods between the 16th and the 20th centuries The comparative discussion of these analyses draws general conclusions about the specifics of narrative structures in lyric poetry in contrast to prose fiction

Understanding Relations Between Scripts Philippa Steele, 2017-08-31 Understanding Relations Between Scripts examines the writing systems of the ancient Aegean and Cyprus in the second and first millennia BC principally Cretan Hieroglyphic Linear A Linear B Cypriot Minoan and the Cypriot Syllabary These scripts of which some are deciphered and others are not are known to be related to each other However the details of their relationships with each other have remained poorly understood and this will be the first volume dedicated solely to this issue Nine papers aim to reach a better appreciation of relationships between writing systems than has been possible in previous research through an interdisciplinary dialogue that takes account of both features of the writing systems and the contextual factors affecting the way in which writing was passed on Each individual contribution furthers this aim by presenting the latest research on the Aegean scripts demonstrating the great advances in our understanding of script relations that are possible through such detailed and innovative studies
