A James Speyer Architect Curator Exhibition Designer:

A. James Speyer A. James Speyer, John Vinci, 1997 In 1938 James Speyer departed Harvard's School of Design in order to become Mies van der Rohe's first American graduate student at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago During the 40s and 50s he taught architecture under Mies while at the same time as an architect in his own right he completed houses in Chicago and Pittsburgh that represented the cutting edge of new glass and steel design In 1957 Speyer traveled to Greece on a Fulbright fellowship where he taught at the Polytechnion in Athens upon returning to America he became Curator of Twentieth Century Painting and Sculpture at the Art Institute of Chicago He held this position for the next twenty five years and his tenure witnessed over 125 exhibitions and a remarkable expansion to the Institute's permanent collection This volume includes a biographical essay by Franz Schulze and six accounts from Speyer's friends and colleagues who remember different aspects of his life and work Floor plans and photographs direct special attention to Speyer's extraordinary ultra modernist designs not only for houses but also for innovative exhibitions at the Art Institute during the 60s and 70s

Resisting Postmodern Architecture Stylianos Giamarellos, 2022-01-10 Since its first appearance in 1981 critical regionalism has enjoyed a celebrated worldwide reception The 1990s increased its pertinence as an architectural theory that defends the cultural identity of a place resisting the homogenising onslaught of globalisation Today its main principles such as acknowledging the climate history materials culture and topography of a specific place are integrated in architects education across the globe But at the same time the richer cross cultural history of critical regionalism has been reduced to schematic juxtapositions of the global with the local Retrieving both the globalising branches and the overlooked cross cultural roots of critical regionalism Resisting Postmodern Architecture resituates critical regionalism within the wider framework of debates around postmodern architecture the diverse contexts from which it emerged and the cultural media complex that conditioned its reception In so doing it explores the intersection of three areas of growing historical and theoretical interest postmodernism critical regionalism and globalisation Based on more than 50 interviews and previously unpublished archival material from six countries the book transgresses existing barriers to integrate sources in other languages into anglophone architectural scholarship In so doing it shows how the periphery was not just a passive recipient but also an active generator of architectural theory and practice Stylianos Giamarellos challenges long held central notions of supposedly international discourses of the recent past and outlines critical regionalism as an unfinished project apposite for the 21st century on the fronts of architectural theory history and historiography

Making Houston Modern Barrie Scardino Bradley, Stephen Fox, Michelangelo Sabatino, 2023-11-15 Complex controversial and prolific Howard Barnstone was a central figure in the world of twentieth century modern architecture Recognized as Houston's foremost modern architect in the 1950s Barnstone came to prominence for his designs with partner Preston M Bolton which transposed the rigorous and austere architectural practices of Ludwig Mies van der Rohe to the hot steamy coastal plain of Texas Barnstone was a man of contradictions charming and witty but also self centered caustic and abusive who shaped new settings that were imbued at once with spatial calm and emotional intensity Making Houston Modern explores the provocative architect s life and work not only through the lens of his architectural practice but also by delving into his personal life class identity and connections to the artists critics collectors and museum directors who forged Houston s distinctive culture in the postwar era Edited by three renowned voices in the architecture world this volume situates Barnstone within the contexts of American architecture modernism and Jewish culture to unravel the legacy of a charismatic personality whose imaginative work as an architect author teacher and civic commentator helped redefine architecture in Texas Modern in the Middle Susan

Benjamin, Michelangelo Sabatino, 2020-09-01 The first survey of the classic twentieth century houses that defined American Midwestern modernism Famed as the birthplace of that icon of twentieth century architecture the skyscraper Chicago also cultivated a more humble but no less consequential form of modernism the private residence Modern in the Middle Chicago Houses 1929 75 explores the substantial yet overlooked role that Chicago and its suburbs played in the development of the modern single family house in the twentieth century In a city often associated with the outsize reputations of Frank Lloyd Wright and Ludwig Mies van der Rohe the examples discussed in this generously illustrated book expand and enrich the story of the region s built environment Authors Susan Benjamin and Michelangelo Sabatino survey dozens of influential houses by architects whose contributions are ripe for reappraisal such as Paul Schweikher Harry Weese Keck Keck and William Pereira From the bold early example of the Battledock House by Henry Dubin 1930 to John Vinci and Lawrence Kenny s gem the Freeark House 1975 the generation spanning residences discussed here reveal how these architects contended with climate and natural setting while negotiating the dominant influences of Wright and Mies They also reveal how residential clients typically middle class professionals progressive in their thinking helped to trailblaze modern architecture in America Though reflecting different approaches to site space structure and materials the examples in Modern in the Middle reveal an abundance of astonishing houses that have never been collected into one study until now
