Reading Biography Carl Rollyson, 2004 Most book reviewers know very little about the history or the art of biography Indeed if there is any art in biography it is the rare reviewer that acknowledges it or knows how to discuss it Usually the reviewer regards biography as an occasion to wax eloquent about what he or she thinks of the subject Little space if any is devoted to the biography's structure or style to the biographer's peculiar problems or to how the biography relates to others about the same subject Carl Rollyson a professional biographer and weekly columnist On Biography for The New York Sun explores the ramifications of authorized and unauthorized biographies investigates the relationship between biography and history biography and fiction biography and autobiography as well commenting on certain perennial biographical subjects such as Napoleon on sub genres such as children's biography and on the most recent developments in life writing Rollyson's aim is to reach not merely scholars but that vast general audience addicted to reading biography enhancing their pleasure by providing insight or you might say the inside word on how biographies are put together

The Stolen Notebooks SUSAN AUDREY GRUNDY, 2019-09-29 Art Historian Susan Grundy delves into reasons biographers assume a Tuscan painter Leonardo da Vinci wrote the Notebooks It was only in the nineteenth century that European scholars began to access these Notebooks in more depth transcribing the arcane backwards Italian and translating them into English Yet they discovered a man who did not seem to be Tuscan Leonardo da Vinci as he seemed to be a man from the East Yet this reality was closed down by researchers who seemed determined to continue with the myth of the self educated genius from a farm in Tuscany
