

I Am

I am to be found
Within the smallest seed
I lie in sweet repose
In winter's iron ground
I spring forth in dazzling light
In nature I abound

I am to be found
In a new born baby's cry
An old man's last soft breath
The age'ds weary eye...
The mystery of death
The heart suffused with pain
The mourners bitter tears.
You do not cry in vain.

I am to be found
In the lover's warm caress
In sunset's molten glow
In twilights sweet redress
In dawns ethereal light
In deepest inky night
Through all your fears and woes
When fate runs you a-ground..
Yes, even in that pit of doom
Still! even there, I'm found.

I am to be found
Within all things I made
Each feathered bird in flight
Each tiny creeping thing
I live within your heart
I'm in the song you sing
I'm everywhere you look
I'm where you cannot see
So rest and be assured
Your soul is safe
With Me.

A Memory Of Light Poems On The Brink:

A Memory of Light Linda Pergolizzi Gallagher, 2003-06-01 These uncertain times crave meaning and A Memory of Light by Linda Pergolizzi Gallagher offers that Like drinking a cool glass of water and realizing just how thirsty you were these small gulps of insight satisfy An interesting book composition weaves the reader through the pages of this small gift book The pages on the left side unfold phrase by phrase hinting at the poem on the right Allusions to conflicting philosophies love music light and dark are all gently communicated The author's willingness to delve into her own perceptions and find clarity propels the reader to join her on her quest Convergence magnifies one short lived intense moment A million finer senses converge to elevate my primitive awareness of proof A speeding moment captured examined and let go is evidence enough of truth The author credits September 11th 2001 as the inspiration for Dissonance Other allusions to that date and its aftermath appear as well Image subjects of appreciation instinct will and self among others finally culminating in hope also inhabit the pages Linen bound in a deep rust tone with a haunting antique illustration on the front cover this hardcover gift book will look lovely on your desktop or bookshelf If you've never been one to enjoy poetry and especially if you have you may be surprised to find yourself gently illuminated by A Memory of Light

Poets on the Edge Jesús Sepúlveda, 2016-01-22 Poets on the Edge critically explores the relationship between poetry and its context through the work of four Latin American poets Chilean Vicente Huidobro 1898 1948 Peruvian César Vallejo 1893 1938 Chilean Juan Luis Martínez 1943 1993 and Argentine Nstor Perlongher 1949 1992 While Huidobro and Vallejo establish their poetics on the edge in the context of worldwide conflagrations and the emergence of the historical avant garde during the first half of the twentieth century Martínez and Perlongher produce their work in the context of the Chilean and Argentine dictatorships respectively developing different strategies to overcome the panoptic societies of control installed throughout the 1970s and 1980s Martínez recreates the avant garde tradition in a playful manner to avoid censorship and also proposes a philosophical poetics to stage a utopian project oriented toward redesigning the house of civilization that has fallen apart Perlongher unfolds his peculiar Neobaroque sensitivity in order to reshape the complex Latin American identities culminating his poetic project with two collections written under the influence of ayahuasca based ceremonies Poets on the Edge offers the reader a new understanding of the hybrid and edgy nature of Latin American poetics and subjectivity as well as of the evolution of poetry written in Spanish during the twentieth century

A Hotel Lobby at the Edge of the World Adam Clay, 2012-04-17 At the edge of the world you'll want to have this book The final lines of Adam Clay's poem Scientific Method have been haunting me for weeks Iowa Press Citizen The distilled haunting and subtly complex poems in Adam Clay's A Hotel Lobby at the Edge of the World often arrive at that moment when solitude slips into separation when a person suddenly realizes he can barely see the place he set out from however long ago He now sees he must find his connection back to the present socially entangled world in which he lives For Clay reverie can be a siren's song luring him to that space in which prisoners will begin to interrogate themselves Clay pays attention to the poet's return to the world of his daily life tracking the subtly shifting tenors of thought that occur as the landscape around him changes Clay is fully aware of the difficulties of Thoreau's border life and his poems live somewhere between those of James Wright and John Ashbery They seek wholeness all the while acknowledging that a fragment is as complete as thought can be In the end what we encounter most in these poems is a generous gentleness an attention to the world so careful it's as if the mind is washing each grain of sand Poems that are in turn clear and strange and always warmly memorable Bob Hicok These poems engage fully the natural world even as they understand the individual's exclusion from it Publishers Weekly Light's Battered Edge Diane

Sahms-Guarnieri, 2015-11-15 The familiar Gospel song may reassure us that His eye is on the sparrow but for those at the battered edges of our society too often it doesn't seem that way Here Diane Sahms Guarnieri catches sight of a sparrow by its own forgotten self and that sparrow stands in for other forgotten ones the homeless the wrecked the ill a family of forebears visited by comprehensive Job like Misery Even as she shows us light's battered edges however Sahms Guarnieri makes us sharply aware of life playing disharmoniously and harmoniously love so close it's like being safely snug inside the lining of another's skin earth itself surrendering to each sunset in a thankful swaying sort of way a soul snatched up animistically lifting lifting lifting into light These compelling poems leave us disquieted as much by beauty as by sorrow Nathalie F Anderson Author of Quiver Professor Swarthmore College Think of the spirit of place as the frame of memory shaping language of the perpetual soliloquy of being who you are in counterpoint with echoing phrases others have uttered at or to you and you will have some idea of the chant and enchantment of the poems gathered in Light's Battered Edge There are some hard truths in these poems about abusive spouses about the wear and tear of caring for others But underlying it all is the sense of what love really means Frank Wilson Books Inq The Epilogue At the Sky's Edge Beidao, 2001 At the Sky's Edge combines in a single bilingual paperback volume two essential works by one of the world's finest contemporary poets In his first retrospective volume of poetry in English two of Bei Dao's previous books Forms of Distance 1994 and Landscape Over Zero 1996 are gathered together in one bilingual paperback edition At The Sky's Edge Poems 1991 1996 marks a pivotal point in the poet's oeuvre presenting the increasingly lyrical meditative poems written in the years following his banishment from China in 1989 Translated into twenty five languages Bei Dao's work has long been appreciated internationally but is just recently gaining a larger audience in the US At The Sky's Edge becomes Bei Dao's seventh book published by New Directions and is the first time Forms of Distance appears in a paperback edition The translations of David Hinton who was awarded the prestigious Harold Morton Landon Translation Award from The Academy of American Poets in 1997 capture both the musicality and density of the original Chinese Quiet spare these are poems of paradox and possibility of words carefully balanced of a world on edge Flowers of Hope and Memory: A Collection of Poems Cornelia J.M. Jordan, 2022-06-03 Reprint of the original first published in 1861 Incident at the Edge of Bayonet Woods Paula Bohince,2010-11-26 Paula Bohince's debut collection Incident at the Edge of Bayonet Woods begins with a speaker invoking her dead father and unfolds as a kind of mystery novel. Spanning decades and set on a decrepit inherited farm in Pennsylvania, the daughter and father navigate the poverty of their environment and their own troubled relationship. Details of the father's murder are gradually uncovered, and we eventually learn that he was killed by a trusted laborer. The speaker lives with this violence on the farm as an adult while contending with her own fears, the fallibility of memory, and the voices of ancestors who once occupied this homestead. Bohince has the essential gifts of inventive metaphor and grace with language. But in her case, these gifts infuse the poetry with a kind of New Testament glow; the poems see manifestations of innocence and evil as they are and take note of their sad enmeshment in each of us. The light her poems cast does not prettify the ugly and the unjust. She writes clear-eyed laments for the abandoned and broken and discarded in the human and animal worlds, but she writes from the other side of despair. And finally, we are lifted and carried through all notions of good and evil on a wave of redemptive music.

Iraq's Modern Arabic Literature Salih J. Altoma,2010-10-14 Covering 60 years of materials, this bibliography cites translations, studies, and other writings which represent Iraq's national literature, including recent works of numerous Iraqi writers living in Western exile. The volume serves as a guide to three interrelated data: o Translations that have appeared since 1950 as books or as individual items (poems, short stories, novel extracts, plays, diaries) in print and non-print publications in Iraq and other Arab and English-speaking countries, including Australia, Canada, the United Kingdom, and the United States; o Relevant studies and other secondary sources, including selected reviews and author interviews which cover Iraqi literature and writers; o The scope of displacement or dispersion of Iraqi writers, artists, and other intellectuals who have been uprooted and are now living in exile in Arab or other Western countries. By drawing attention to a largely overlooked but relevant and extensive literature accessible in English, this first of its kind book will serve as an invaluable guide to students of contemporary Iraq, modern Arabic literature, and other fields such as women's studies, postcolonial studies, third world literature, American Arab Muslim Relations, and Diaspora studies.

Poems by Presidents: The First-Ever Anthology Michael Croland,2023-12-13 This first-ever anthology unveils eleven presidents' deepest thoughts and emotions through their poetry. George Washington's teenage romantic yearnings, Thomas Jefferson's death-bed adieu, Warren G. Harding's steamy love poems to his mistress, and others. While the poetry of Jimmy Carter is not included in the main body, the appendix provides insightful references to his literary contributions.

Art and Memory in the Work of Elizabeth Bishop Jonathan Ellis,2006 This book opens a welcome new direction in Elizabeth Bishop studies and in the study of women poets generally by urging a more thorough scrutiny of artistic memory. Drawing on published works and unpublished material overlooked by many critics, Ellis balances consideration of Bishop's life in the United States with discussion of how her Canadian upbringing influenced her art.
