Professor of Old Testament Studies in the University of Utrecht

AN OUTLINE OF OLD TESTAMENT THEOLOGY

This English translation is an able and exact rendering of the second Dutch edition except in the bibliographies where some of the less important Dutch titles have been dropped and some recent works included. It differs from most other theologies in that in the first part it goes into the important theological problems with which the Old Testament confronts the Christian Theologian, and in the second part it attempts to answer, in terms of the Christian faith, and with the results made available by modern scholarship, the question of the meaning and value of the message of the Old Testament for the Christian Theologian and for his work in the contemporary Christian Church.
