Benjamin W. Redekop, Calvin Redekop, 2003-04-01 Founded in part on a rejection of worldly power and the use of force Anabaptism carried with it the promise of redemptive power Yet the attempt to banish worldly power to the margins of the Christian community has been fraught with dilemmas contradictions and at times blatant abuses of authority In this groundbreaking book Benjamin W Redekop Calvin W Redekop and their coauthors draw on classic and contemporary thinking to confront the issue of power and authority in the Anabaptist Mennonite community From the power relationships of the sixteenth century Peasants War to issues of contemporary sexuality the topics of Power Authority and the Anabaptist Tradition are sure to interest a wide audience Contributors Stephen C Ainlay College of the Holy Cross J Lawrence Burkholder President Emeritus Goshen College Lydia Neufeld Harder Toronto School of Theology Joel Hartman University of Missouri Jacob A Loewen missionary retired Dorothy Yoder Nyce Writer and former Assistant Professor Goshen College Lynda Nyce Bluffton College Wesley Prieb deceased former dean Tabor College Benjamin W Redekop Kettering University Calvin W Redekop Conrad Grebel College emeritus James M Stayer Queen s University Ontario The Clashing Worlds of Economics and Faith James Halteman, 2007-01-03 Halteman s analysis makes a highly important contribution to the continuing discussion I recommend this book with enthusiasm Carl Kreider Dean Emeritus Goshen College Reforming the Morality of Usury David W. Jones, 2004 In the early years of the sixteenth century the Church experienced a dramatic shift in its moral perception of the practice of usury Leaders of the continental Protestant Reformation Lutheran Calvinist and Anabaptist all grappled with the Roman Catholic Church's moral teaching on the practice of lending money at interest. Although these three theological streams addressed the same moral problem at relatively the same time they each responded differently. Reforming the Morality of Usury examines how the leaders of each major stream in the continental Protestant Reformation adopted a different approach to reforming moral teaching on the practice of usury.

Creation and the Environment Calvin W. Redekop, 2000-09-21 Recent years have seen a shift in the belief that a religious world view specifically a Christian one precludes a commitment to environmentalism. Whether as stewards of God's creation or champions of environmental justice church members have increasingly found that a strong pro ecology stand on environmental issues is an integral component of their faith. But not all Christian denominations are latecomers to the issue of environmentalism. In Creation and the Environment Calvin W. Redekop and his co authors explain the unique environmental position of the Anabaptists in particular the Mennonites. After a brief survey of the major forces contributing to the world's present ecological crisis Creation and the Environment explores the uniquely Anabaptist view of our relationship to what they see as the created order. In rural Amish and Mennonite communities they explain the environment especially the land is considered part of the Kingdom God plans to establish on earth. In this view the creation is part of the divine order with the redemption of humankind inextricably linked to the redemption and restoration of the material world. The well being a purpose of creation and human history are thus seen as completely interdependent.

Manufacturing Mennonites Janis Lee Thiessen, 2013-06-17 Manufacturing Mennonites examines the efforts of Mennonite intellectuals and business leaders to redefine the group's ethno religious identity in response to changing economic and social conditions after 1945. As the industrial workplace was one of the most significant venues in which competing identity claims were contested during this period Janis Thiessen explores how Mennonite workers responded to such redefinitions and how they affected class relations. Through unprecedented access to extensive private company records Thiessen provides an innovative comparison of three businesses founded, owned and originally staffed by Mennonites: the printing firm Friesens Corporation, the window manufacturer Loewen and the furniture manufacturer Palliser. Complemented with interviews with workers, managers and business owners. Manufacturing
