A Twentieth Century Woman:

A Twentieth Century Woman Aline Poole Ludwig, 2003-06-12 A Woman of the 20th Century is the story of a life in the most advanced century ever one that offered greater technology and knowledge and freedom as well as more riches to be able to enjoy it The big challenge though was figuring out how to handle the freedom and use it to have access to all the new wonderful things The author Aline was born into a family whose financial security and class status had been ruined by the sudden unexpected deaths from pneumonia when her parents were children of both of her successful grandfathers Very soon she began receiving the message that she was somehow supposed to regain what had been lost since her parents had been trying very hard to do so but somehow not quite succeeding The road to success turned out to be through new territory and offered important insights about the emotional needs of humans and the good and bad sides of gender expectations for both men and women Two permanent detours made it end in an entirely different place than it would have if she had listened to her family or traveled in earlier centuries

Contemporary Women's Fiction. Feminist Narratives in Selected Twentieth Century Women's Novels Subashish Bhattacharjee, Dipak Barman, 2016-06 Women's writing in the twentieth century has shown a dramatic shift in its preoccupations and intentions Rather than occupying itself with the trivialities of the social and domestic spheres the writing by women in the latter half of the twentieth century and approaching the twenty first century inheres concerns such as political historical questions of gender equity and rights interrogations of normative and patriarchal practices and other such issues that have not been adequately addressed in women's writing thus far The four essays in the present volume are certainly not exhaustive or adequate in this regard that of addressing this lacuna in literary scholarship but it may be viewed as an attempt to bridge the proverbial gap As a precursor to further scholarly works in the area already existing as well as forthcoming the essays discuss the works of Toni Morrison Margaret Atwood Bapsi Sidhwa Manju Kapur and Sunanda Sikdar Although the essays purport to exploring select areas of the authors oeuvre the distinctive fictional structures of the authors help us to explore wider theoretical and critical issues such as postmodernity postcolonialism feminism globalism nationalism and other related issues

Women and the Periodical Press in China's Long Twentieth Century Michel Hockx, Joan Judge, Barbara Mittler, 2018-05-24 In this major new collection an international team of scholars examine the relationship between the Chinese women's periodical press and global modernity in the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries The essays in this richly illustrated volume probe the ramifications for women of two monumental developments in this period the intensification of China's encounters with foreign powers and a media transformation comparable in its impact to the current internet age The book offers a distinctive methodology for studying the periodical press which is supported by the development of a bilingual database of early Chinese periodicals Throughout the study essays on China are punctuated by transdisciplinary reflections from scholars working on periodicals outside of the Chinese context encouraging readers to rethink common stereotypes about lived womanhood in modern China and to reconsider the nature of Chinese modernity in a global context

Aesthetic Pleasure in Twentieth-Century Women's Food Writing

Alice McLean, 2012-05-22 This book explores the aesthetic pleasures of eating and writing in the lives of M F K Fisher 1908 1992 Alice B Toklas 1877 1967 and Elizabeth David 1913 1992 Growing up during a time when women's food writing was largely limited to the domestic cookbook which helped to codify the guidelines of middle class domesticity Fisher Toklas and David claimed the pleasures of gastronomy previously reserved for men Articulating a language through which female desire is artfully and publicly sated Fisher Toklas and David expanded women's food writing beyond the domestic realm by pioneering forms of self expression that celebrate female appetite for pleasure and for culinary adventure In so doing they illuminate the power of genre bending food writing to transgress and reconfigure conventional gender ideologies For these women food encouraged a sensory engagement with their environment and a physical receptivity toward pleasure that engendered their creative aesthetic

Italian Women's Autobiographical Writings in the Twentieth Century

Ursula Fanning, 2017-09-07 This book highlights the centrality of the autobiographical enterprise to Italian women's writing through the twentieth century a century that has frequently been referred to as the century of the self Ursula Fanning addresses the thorny issue of essentialism potentially involved in underlining links between women's writing and autobiographical modes and ultimately rejects it in favor of an argument based on the cultural linguistic and literary marginalization of women writers within the Italian context It is concerned with Italian women writers various ways of grappling with constructions of subjectivity throughout the century and sets out to explore them Fanning reads autobiographical writing as subject to many of the same constraints as fiction and in doing so draws attention to the significance of the recurring use of the terms pure and impure in many critical and theoretical discussions of the autobiographical where pure is used to suggest a truthful representation of a life while impure suggests the messy undertaking of mixing lived experience with fiction Recurring patterns and paradigms are found in the works of the various writers considered eighteen in all and these paradigms are analyzed through close readings of their works These close readings offer insights into approaches to the constructions of subjectivity in the narratives and are informed by feminist theories The chapters focus on selves in relationship taking their lead from the patterns unfolding in the writers work hence the subjects are constructed as daughters with different views of the self in relation to fathers and mothers within the confines of the romantic relationship which involves reconsiderations and rewritings of the romance plot as maternal subjects and as writers with an eye on their relationship to the literary canon as well as to the relationship with readers This book argues that there is such a thing as gendered subjectivity and that its constructions may be traced through the texts analyzed
