Opportunisme scientifique was intended to be the fifth and final volume of Poincaré's philosophical writings. Louis Rougier had elaborated the project with the collaboration of Gustave Le Bon and the approval of the philosopher Henri Poincaré and his son Pierre. Because of the reservations of the mathematician's heirs, this book was never published and remains his last philosophical book. Nevertheless, Poincaré's correspondence, which is kept in the Poincaré Archives at University Nancy 2, contains a large amount of documents concerning the project, its justification, and the discussions between Louis Rougier and the mathematician's heirs. The aim of this book is to restore this episode, which gives some crucial information about editorial practices of Poincaré and about the posterity of his philosophical thinking.

Matter and Spirit in the Universe Helge Kragh, 2004. Cosmology is an unusual science with an unusual history. This book examines the formative years of modern cosmology from the perspective of its interaction with religious thought. As the first study of its kind, it reveals how closely associated the development of cosmology has been with considerations of a philosophical and religious nature. From nineteenth-century thermodynamics to the pioneering cosmological works of Georges Lemaître and Arthur Eddington, religion has shaped parts of modern cosmological theory. By taking the religious component seriously, a new and richer history of cosmology emerges.
