Burns,Alice M. Rudy Price,2025-05-30 This companion comprises essays that analyze interactions between art and global imperial relationships from 1800 to World War II The essays in this volume expose and add to historical layers of meaning in their discussions of art and empire Found across much of the globe sites of sedimentary rock allegorize the dynamics of art and empire and frame the section structure for this book Twenty two authors unpack imperial layers in a variety of global and historical contexts through case studies that center art and visual and material culture The authors show how art and aesthetics have operated as tools of empire Interpreting a comprehensive array of media as well as inter media dialogues they analyze and intervene in how we remember and examine entwinements between empire and aesthetic practices In this volume s attention to the role of art in imperial formation as well as the legacy of colonization the essays disentangle sediments of culture as they are moved and shaped by homogenizing forces of empire showing that the aesthetics of empire inflect not only individuals makers and economies but also practices of circulation and collecting The book will be of interest to graduate students researchers and professors and may be used in classes focused on art history imperialism and colonialism The Ceramic Narrative Matthias Ostermann, 2006-07-06 The Ceramic Narrative is an exploration of past and present ceramic iconography concerned with the depiction of narratives or with images meant to be thought provoking beyond the merely decorative The book is beautifully illustrated with an extensive variety of work from history and the present day showing how many contemporary artists continue this tradition with modern interpretations Examining ancient Greece the ceramic imagery of the Maya culture the ceramics of China Persia and Japan European tin glaze traditions and the narrative imagery appearing on later European porcelains Matthias Ostermann attempts wherever possible not only to present ceramic narratives in their cultural and historical contexts but also to refer to some of the older myths and sources that may have served as inspiration Applied arts writer David Whiting contributes an essay on the development of ceramic narratives in the twentieth century while illustrations present the work of more than 75 contemporary international ceramic artists who explore narrative in distinctive and different ways These include the exploration of mythologies and existing stories personal visions private stories and memory the human figure relationships and identity political and social commentary and finally the ceramic object itself seen as message and metaphor This book will serve as a beginning for further study of this fascinating and little explored subject and as a celebration of the work of all ceramic artists whose passion is the ceramic narrative Public Sculpture of Staffordshire and the Black Country George Thomas Noszlopy, Fiona Waterhouse, 2005-01-01 The Black Country is an area historically known as the cradle of the Industrial Revolution a thriving region built around deep coal seams conjuring up images of fiery red furnaces by night and black sooty citadels by day Yet today the resource rich region also features many striking public sculptures This volume provides a comprehensive catalog to all of the historic sculptures and public monuments in Staffordshire and the Black Country George Noszlopy and Fiona Waterhouse catalog each individual sculpture in detail including information about the sculptor the sculpture's historical and artistic significance the commissioning agent and the date of installation The volume also features 350 black and white photographs that document the diverse and rich beauty of the region's public monuments The ninth volume in the widely acclaimed award winning Public Sculpture of Britain series Public Sculpture of Staffordshire and the Black Country is an invaluable resource for British historians art scholars and travelers alike Black and Blur Fred Moten, 2017-11-16 Taken as a trilogy consent not to be a single being is a monumental accomplishment a brilliant theoretical intervention that might be best described as a powerful case for blackness as a category of analysis Brent Hayes Edwards author of Epistaphies Jazz and the Literary Imagination In Black and Blur the first volume in his sublime and compelling trilogy consent not to be a single being Fred Moten engages in a capacious consideration of the place and force of blackness in African diaspora arts politics and life In these interrelated essays Moten attends to entanglement the blurring of borders and other practices that trouble notions of self determination and sovereignty within political and aesthetic realms

Black and Blur is marked by unlikely juxtapositions Althusser informs analyses of rappers Pras and Ol Dirty Bastard Shakespeare encounters Stokely Carmichael thinkers like Kant Adorno and Jos Esteban Muñoz and artists and musicians including Thornton Dial and Cecil Taylor play off each other Moten holds that blackness encompasses a range of social aesthetic and theoretical insurgencies that respond to a shared modernity founded upon the sociological catastrophe of the transatlantic slave trade and settler colonialism In so doing he unsettles normative ways of reading hearing and seeing thereby reordering the senses to create new means of knowing
