Building The House Of Marriage:

Marriage, Gender and Sex in a Contemporary Chinese Village Sun-Pong Yuen, Pui-Lam Law, Yuk-Ying Ho, Fong-Ying Yu, 2015-07-17 This book explores changing concepts of marriage and gender relationships and attitudes toward sex in a rural Chinese community over the past five decades. The book is based on a study of an industrialized peasant village in Guangdong Province from 1994 to 1996 and subsequent visits from 2000 to 2002. According to the authors, the rural economic reforms of the 1980s in southern China have challenged and reinforced the deep structure of Chinese familism and this has led to tensions between tradition and modernity. The first section of the book explores how attitudes toward marriage and courtship have changed over the past fifty years through personal accounts of three different marriages from different generations. In Part II, the transition from a traditional to a modern society is discussed from the perspective of several women from different generations. The third section focuses on sexual relationships and the growing sex trade in the village. Part IV includes updates to the original survey and takes a look at village politics.

Building Your House on the Lord Steve Brestin, Dee Brestin, 2014-02-05 Living on Solid Ground. Most couples struggle at some point in their relationship with hard questions of marriage and family life such as: what is God's primary purpose for marriage? What does it mean for a man to be the head of a home? Is divorce ever acceptable? How do we raise children who will love God? What does God have to say about the way we communicate or about sexual intimacy? Authors Steve and Dee Brestin have wrestled with these questions in their own marriage and have found that God's Word is the only reliable blueprint for marriage and family life. This study will guide you through the encouragement that the Bible gives for those relationships. Jesus told us the storms will come and batter our homes, but if we obey him, our house will stand firm.

The Faithful House: Building Families to Affirm Life and Avoid Risk; Core Manual Module Catholic Relief Services, 2010-04-09 Advices on marriage Mary Joseph, 2022-07-31 Advices on Marriage revolves around an absolute fact: marriage is not easy; it can be a heaven or a hell as we choose to make it. There are no perfect recipes; every person is different and so is every marriage. But if it's true that we are masters of our own fate, we must learn to be mindful in our married life. So this book helps us to better understand the meaning of marriage through the different personalities and facets and how to avoid conflict and misunderstanding. Mary Joseph has been a writer for over seven years. The author holds an educational background in Psychology with counselling and International law. Mary works as a relationship counsellor and as a paralegal. Given her experience in relationships, she believes that marriage is hard work, but not all marriages need to end up in divorce. Currently, she lives in London and she enjoys spending time with her family and her beloved pets. As well as being a prolific writer, she is also a musician and producer.

Some Instructions Stanley G. Crawford, 1985 From Putting Things Away to The Marriage Almanac, not to mention the pedantic Index in itself, a comic wonder. Stanley Crawford gives the married, the unmarried, and the formerly married a classic satire on all the sanctimonious marriage manuals ever produced. Starting with the complete title, Some

Instructions to My Wife Concerning the Upkeep of the House and Marriage and to My Son and Daughter Concerning the Conduct of Their Childhood a boorish narrator sets down some seventy three pieces of advice to his wife young son and two year old daughter intended to foster and maintain domestic tranquility in an age of anxiety Taken literally our neo Victorian head of the house is a male chauvinist pig of sorts but what reader would deny that the sources of Crawford s satire run deep in the American grain

Women's Lives after Marriage in Rural Sri Lanka Tharindi Udalgama,2024-05-31 Drawing on extensive research from a 14 month ethnographic study this book delves into the intricate lives of married women in a rural Sinhala village in Sri Lanka It explores their efforts to uphold community expectations while employing innovative and strategic approaches to navigate ruptures within their marital journeys The chapters progress by dissecting the pivotal gender roles assumed by women in building happy marriages establishing stable households cultivating harmonious homes and achieving effective household management At the heart of this narrative is the concept of homemaking which symbolises not only family life but also social stature The text discusses how the categorisation of homes as good or bad relies on women s conscientious adherence to gender norms Notably the author also looks at the unique practice of married women resorting to sorcery as a means to mitigate the challenges stemming from marital disruptions while remaining aligned with societal gender expectations Throughout chapters systematically investigate the spectrum of opportunities available to these women alongside the constraints they encounter as they endeavour to cultivate successful marriages Overall the book provides profound insights into the complex interplay of married life spotlighting women s astute negotiations of their roles and adept management of ruptures within the framework of established gender norms This book will be of interest to scholars in Gender Studies Anthropology Family Studies and South Asian Studies

Home Possessions Daniel Miller,2021-07-30 Although so much of the life we care about takes place at home this private space often remains behind closed doors and is notoriously difficult for researchers to infiltrate We may think it is just up to us to decorate transform and construct our homes but in this book we discover a new form of estate agency the active participation of the home and its material culture in the construction of our lives What do the possessions people choose to take with them when moving say about who they are and should we emphasize the mobility of a move or the stability of what movers take with them How is the home an active partner in developing relationships Why are our homes sometimes haunted by ghosts This intriguing book is a rare behind the scenes expos of the domestic sphere across a range of cultures Examples come from working class housewives in Norway a tribal society in Taiwan a museum in London tenants in Canada and students from Greece to produce a genuinely comparative perspective based in every case on sustained fieldwork So Japan long thought to be a nation that idealizes uncluttered simplicity is shown behind closed doors to harbour illicit pockets of disorganization while the warmth inside Romanian apartments is used to expel the presence of the state Representing a vital development in the study of material culture this book clearly shows that we may think we possess our homes but our homes are more likely to possess us

How Migrant Labor is Changing Rural China Rachel Murphy, 2002-09-19 One of the most dramatic and noticeable changes in China since the introduction of economic and social reforms in the early 1980s has been the mass migration of peasants from the countryside to urban areas across the country Murphy's in depth fieldwork in rural China offers a rich basis for her findings about the impact of migration on many aspects of rural life inequality the organization of agricultural production land transfers livelihood diversification spending patterns house building marriage education the position of women social stability and state society relations Her analysis focuses on the human experiences and strategies that precipitate shifts in national and local policies for economic development and the responses of migrants non migrants and officials to changing circumstances obstacles and opportunities This pioneering study is rich in original source materials and anecdotes as well as useful comparative examples from other developing countries

The Ideal Marriage Dr. Francis K. Goode, 2011-06-16 The Marriage Institution was not by any stretch of the imagination a human devising It was not even a cultural invention God is the creator of the Marriage Institution He created it to demonstrate His Fatherly love for the human family He also performed the first wedding ceremony in the Garden of Eden and gave it a definition as a lifelong union enjoined by two distinct individuals who are genetically identical and yet each containing within itself something lacking in the other and complimentary to each other
