Being Maasai Ethnicity And Identity In East Africa:

Being Maasai Thomas Spear, Richard Waller, 1993-04-01 Everyone knows the Maasai as proud pastoralists who once dominated the Rift Valley from northern Kenya to central Tanzania. But many people who identify themselves as Maasai or who speak Maa are not pastoralists at all but farmers and hunters. Over time many different people have become something else. And what it means to be Maasai has changed radically over the past several centuries and is still changing today. This collection by historians, archaeologists, anthropologists and linguists examines how Maasai identity has been created, evoked, contested and transformed from the time of their earliest settlement in Kenya to the present, as well as raising questions about the nature of ethnicity generally. Bond, Derek E. Lee, 2022-04-22 This edited volume summarizes multidisciplinary work on wildlife conservation in the Tarangire Ecosystem of northern Tanzania. By drawing together human-centered, wildlife-centered and interdisciplinary research, this book contributes to furthering our understanding of the often complex mechanisms underlying human-wildlife interactions in dynamic landscapes. By synthesizing the wealth of knowledge generated by anthropologists, ecologists, conservationists, entrepreneurs, geographers, sociologists and zoologists over the last decades, this book also highlights practicable and locally adapted solutions for shaping human-wildlife interactions towards coexistence. Readers will discover the reciprocal and often unexpected direct and indirect dynamics between people and wildlife. While boundaries e.g. between people and wildlife, between protected and unprotected areas and between different groups of people are a common theme throughout the different chapters this book stresses the commonalities links and synergies between seemingly disparate disciplines opinions and conservation approaches The chapters are divided into clear sections such as the human dimension the wildlife dimension and human wildlife interactions representing a detailed summary of anthropological ecological and interdisciplinary research projects that have been conducted in the Tarangire Ecosystem over the last decades Beyond this work contributes to the debate about land sharing versus land sparing and provides an in depth case study for understanding the complexities associated with human wildlife coexistence in one of the few remaining ecosystems that supports migratory populations of large mammals The topic of this book is particularly relevant for students scholars and practitioners who are interested in reconciling the needs of human populations with those of the environment in general and large mammal populations in particular

Indigeness in Africa Felix Mukwiza Ndahinda, 2011-04-27 With a Foreword by Prof Asbjørn Eide a former Chairman of the UN Working Group on Indigenous Populations Chairman of the UN Working Group on Minorities President of the Advisory Committee on National Minorities of the Council of Europe Following the internationalization of the indigenous rights movement a growing number of African hunter gatherers pastoralists and other communities have channelled their claims for special legal protection through the global indigenous rights movement Their claims as the indigenous peoples of Africa are backed by many international actors such as indigenous rights activists donors and some academia However indigenous identification is contested by many African governments some members of non claimant communities and a number of anthropologists who have extensively interacted with claimant indigenous groups This book explores the sources as well as the legal and political implications of indigenous identification in Africa By highlighting the quasi inexistence of systematic and discursive rather than activist studies on the subject matter the analysis questions the appropriateness of this framework in efforts aimed at empowering claimant communities in inherently multiethnic African countries The book navigates between various disciplines in trying to better capture the phenomenon of indigenous rights advocacy in Africa The book is valuable reading for academics in law and all other social sciences such as anthropology sociology history political science as well as for economists It is also a useful tool for policy makers legal practitioners indigenous rights activists and a wide range of NGOs Dr Felix Mukwiza Ndahinda is Associate Professor at the International Victimology Institute Tilburg INTERVICT Tilburg University The Netherlands

Ethnicity and Nationalism in Africa P. Yeros, 2016-07-27 Ethnicity and Nationalism in Africa features a series of constructivist contributions by leading scholars in the field of ethnicity and nationalism and explores the differences among those who have come to be known as constructivists The contributors reflect upon ongoing methodological debates in ethnography historiography and political theory They demonstrate the diversity of concepts and methods within constructivism and assess the political implications of the concepts themselves The debate between them is interdisciplinary critical and innovative and should be of value to anyone interested in the study of ethnicity and nationalism

Miracles and Extraordinary Experience in Northern Kenya

Bilinda Straight, 2013-05-31 The Samburu of northern Kenya struggle to maintain their pastoral way of life as drought and the side effects of globalization threaten both their livestock and their livelihood. Mirroring this divide between survival and ruin are the lines between the self and the other, the living and the dead, this side and in a way that side. Cultural anthropologist Bilinda Straight, who has lived with the Samburu for extended periods since the 1990s, bears witness to Samburu life and death in Miracles and Extraordinary Experience in Northern Kenya. Written mostly in the field, Miracles and Extraordinary Experience in Northern Kenya is the first book-length ethnography completely devoted to Samburu divinity and belief. Here, child prophets recount their travels to heaven and back. Others report transformations between persons and inanimate objects. Spirit turns into action and back again. The miraculous is interwoven with the mundane as the Samburu continue their day-to-day, twenty-first-century existence. Straight describes these fantastic movements inside the cultural logic that makes them possible; thus, she calls into question how we experience how we feel and how anthropologists and their readers can best engage with the improbable. In her detailed and precise accounts, Straight writes beyond traditional ethnography, exploring the limits of science and her own limits as a human being to convey the significance of her time with the Samburu as they recount their fantastic yet authentic experiences in the physical and metaphysical spaces of their culture.

Ethnicity and Empire in Kenya Myles Osborne, 2014-08-29 This work analyses the ethnicity in Kenya over the past two hundred years, focusing on the Kamba ethnic group that inhabits eastern Kenya. East Africa's Human Environment

Interactions Rob Marchant, 2022-01-13 This book is an ambitious integration of ecological, archaeological, anthropological, and land-use sciences, drawing on human geography, demography, and economics of development across the East Africa region. It focuses on understanding and unpicking the interactions that have taken place between the natural and unnatural history of the East African region and traces this interaction from the evolutionary foundations of our species c. 200,000 years ago through the outwards and inwards human migrations often associated with the adoption of subsistence strategies, new technologies, and the arrival of new crops. The book will explore the impact of technological developments such as transitions to tool-making, metallurgy, and the arrival of crops, also involved an international dimension and waves of human migrations in and out of East Africa. Time will be presented with a widening focus that will frame the contemporary with a particular focus on the Anthropocene, last 500 years to the present day. Many of the current challenges have their foundations in precolonial and colonial history, and as such, there will be a focus on how these have evolved and the impact on environmental and human landscapes. Moving into the Anthropocene era, there was increasing exposure to the international drivers of change such as those associated with ivory and slave trade. These international trade routes were tied into the ensuing decimation of elephant populations through to the exploitation of natural mineral resources, have been sought after through to the present day. The book will provide a balanced perspective on the region, the people, and how the natural and unnatural histories have combined to create a dynamic region. These historical perspectives will be galvanized to outline the future changes and the challenges they will bring around such issues as sustainable development space for wildlife and people and the position of East Africa within a globalized world and how this is potentially going to evolve over the coming decades

Embracing the Melody of Appearance: An Psychological Symphony within Being Maasai Ethnicity And Identity In East Africa
