The Solar Nature of Yahweh Daniel Sarlo,2022-10-20 In The Solar Nature of Yahweh Reconsidering the Identity of the Ancient Israelite Deity the original nature of the chief god of the Hebrew Bible Yahweh is reexamined Daniel Sarlo challenges the current consensus that Yahweh was initially a storm god by examining the relevant biblical texts and comparing them with Ancient Near Eastern texts ultimately arguing that Yahweh was a solar deity The implication of this research is that Yahweh was not a minor god who gradually accumulated characteristics to become the head of the ancient Israelite pantheon but rather a significant god from the very beginning or at least before the inception of the United Monarchy *The Scepter of Egypt: The Hyksos period and the New Kingdom (1675-1080 B.C.) A History of Ancient Egypt, Volume 3 John Romer,2023-05-25 The final chapter in the definitive three volume history of the world s first known state Archaeologist John Romer has spent a lifetime chronicling the history of Ancient Egypt and here he tells the epic story of an era dominated by titans of the popular imagination the radical iconoclast Akhenaten the boy king Tutankhamun and the all conquering Ramesses II But heroes do not forge history by themselves This was also a time of international trade cultural exchange and sophisticated art even in the face of violent change Alongside his visionary new history of this the most famous period in the long history of Ancient Egypt Romer turns a critical eye on Egyptology itself Paying close attention to the evidence he corrects prevailing narratives which cast the New Kingdom as an imperial state power in the European mould Instead he reveals through broken artefacts in ruined workshops or preserved letters between a tomb builder and his son a culture more beautiful and beguiling than we could have imagined Romer carefully reconstructs the real story of the New Kingdom as evidenced in the archaeological record and the result the final volume of a life long project secures his status as Ancient Egypt s finest chronicler Writing, Violence, and the Military Niv Allon,2019-08-15 Writing Violence and the Military takes representations of reading and writing in Eighteenth Dynasty Egypt ca 1550 1295 BCE as its point of departure asking how patrons of art conceptualized literacy and how in turn they positioned themselves with respect to it Exploring statuary and tomb art through the prism of self representation and group formation it makes three claims Firstly that the elite of this period held a variety of notions regarding literacy among which violence and memory are most prominent Secondly that among the Eighteenth Dynasty elite literacy found its strongest advocates among men whose careers brought them to engage with the military either as military officials or as civil administrators who accompanied the army beyond the borders of Egypt Finally that Horemhab the General in Chief who later ascended the throne voiced unique views regarding literacy that arose from his career as an elite military official and thus from his social world. Consequently, images of reading and writing allow us to study literacy with regard to those who commissioned them and to consider these patrons' roles in changing conceptualizations. Throughout their different formulations, these representations call for a discussion on literacy in relation to self-representation and to art's role in society. They also invite us to reconsider our own approach to literacy and its significance in ancient times.
