Negotiating Gendered Language and Social Identities Maki Yoshida, 2025-03-19 This book explores gendered language and gender identities negotiated by seven tertiary students of Japanese as an additional language JAL in Australia It demonstrates that while participants are familiar with gendered Japanese as linguistic resources their self positioned and ascribed learnersness nonnative speakerness and non Japaneseness both inside and outside classroom contexts greatly impact the targeted negotiations It argues that these ascribed social identities encourage participants to adopt correct gendered Japanese however what exactly this correctness means differs for each JAL participant depending on their other reflective and perceived social identities such as gender age class race and English native speakerness This book draws on the conclusions on the implications of discourses and practices concerning native speaker status gender and race in Japanese language education While the initial focus is on gendered Japanese and gender identity this book subsequently expands that the participants negotiation of gendered Japanese and gender identity is complicatedly intertwined with negotiations of other social identities such as native speaker status race and age with native speaker status saliently affecting the way they position themselves and are positioned by their interlocutors This book analyses the participants language resources spoken and or written Japanese interactions and one on one and focus group interviews and presents easily understood findings for readers who are interested in SLA Japanese language and or identity studies This is the first book to holistically examine Australia based tertiary students Japanese language learning experience and Japanese interactions with regards to gendered language identities and discursive power relations in a global and multilingual world
