

Behaviour Description Interviewing

We need to know not just if candidates can perform, but will they perform and how will they perform.

BD Interviewing is characterized by two significant features

- Interview is standardized through the use of similar questions for all interviewees;
- Focused on past behavior as the best predictor of future behavior, considering more recent events and more similar circumstances as particularly valuable for assessment.

Additional features

- Asks questions on key competences selected through an analysis of job requirements;
- Uses probing questions to fully explore the situation, behavior and result;
- Uses the same evaluation form / scale for each candidate.
