A Life In Common:

Law and Life in Common Timothy Macklem, 2015 How can law help build community Don't people typically have good reason to pursue their own courses at the cost of life in common This book goes beyond the familiar debates in jurisprudence exploring the ways in which the rational appeal of law requires the support of other means of persuasion most obviously enforcement but also beguilement

The Person and the Common Life James Hart, 1992-10-31 This Husserl based social ethics claims that the properly philosophical life is one lived within the noetic noematic field is not cut off from action Indeed the ethical and political dimensions of the person are disclosed through various reductions At the passive synthetic level as well as at the higher founded levels of personal constitution a basic sense of will emerges the telos of which is a godly intersubjective self ideal This truth of will is inseparably an ought and an is involving moral categoriality as a way of letting the good of others be part of one's own Both moral categoriality and the polis actuate the latent first person plural dative of manifestation which emerges with a common world Thereby they actuate also senses of the common life which can develop to community as a higher order person This leads to a eutopian anti statist theory of the polis and common good which has affinity with some communitarian anarchist and Green views
