The Drive-In, the Supermarket, and the Transformation of Commercial Space in Los Angeles, 1914-1941

Richard W. Longstreth, 2000-08-25 Longstreth explores the early development of two kinds of retail space that have become ubiquitous in the United States in the second half of the twentieth century Richard Longstreth is one of the few historians to focus on ordinary commercial buildings usually associated with commercial builders and real estate developers rather than architects and thus generally overlooked by historians of high architecture Here Longstreth explores the early development of two kinds of retail space that have become ubiquitous in the United States in the second half of the twentieth century One external is devoted to the circulation and parking of automobiles on retail premises Longstreth analyzes the origins of this development in the 1910s and 1920s with the super service station and then the drive in market The other type of space internal was introduced soon thereafter with the single story supermarket The most innovative aspect of the supermarket was how its interior was designed for high volume turnover of a large selection of goods with a minimum of staff assistance Longstreth focuses on Los Angeles the principal center for the development of both kinds of space during the period from the mid 1910s to the early 1940s This richly illustrated study integrates architectural cultural economic and urban factors to describe the evolution of retailing and how it has affected the urban landscape Hearings United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, 1953 Military Sea Transport Service United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, 1953 Considers legislation to require armed services to use privately owned merchant marine vessels to transport cargo and civilian personnel before using ships operated by Military Sea Transport Service United States Code United States, 1982 Judicial and Statutory Definitions of Words and Phrases, 1928

Commercial Space Design and Customer Experience Olivier Mesly, Christophe Réthoré, 2024-06-27 This book can be integrated in any marketing course or serve as a reference for a standalone course about its two themes retail space design and its service offerings It covers a wide variety of challenges faced by retailers while emphasizing customer experience and associated consumer behaviors It proposes models for understanding the intricate relationship between design architecture consumer behaviors both good and bad and shopping experience Presented in an engaging and accessible style it contains theory and actionable managerial recommendations that are anchored in today's reality It is enriched with numerous testimonials from managers and academics to support its content and reinforce its applicability Whether you're a student seeking to grasp fundamental concepts or a seasoned professional aiming to refine strategies this book is poised to elevate your understanding and proficiency in the realm of retail marketing and design Fin de Millénaire Budapest Judit Bodnár, 2001 Fin de Millénaire Budapest combines historical narratives and ethnographic accounts with quantitative evidence to create a detailed picture of a city subjected to the forces of great local and global change In the privatizing of public space the decline of manufacturing the rapid growth of services and the opening of opportunities for entrepreneurs

Bodnar captures global urban patterns with a distinct central European accent In particular she shows tensions between the liberating and fragmenting effects of the increasingly private use of urban space and some ways in which the new urban patterns both resemble and transcend cultural patterns from Budapest s socialist past
