Robert R. Redfield

Apocalyptic Overtures Sexual Politics And The Sense Of An Ending:

Apocalyptic Overtures Richard Dellamora, 1994 Fin de siècle the phrase evokes at once a sense of decadence deviant sexuality and fears that history is coming to an end For gays the ends of centuries carry an even greater fear of real endings as they contemplate the Oscar Wilde trials of 1895 and the onset of AIDS just a decade ago By considering apocalyptic thinking and crises in masculine representation together Richard Dellamora lets us see what was and is at stake in the fin de siècle definitions of gay identity Issues dominating male homosexual subcultures in the 1890s are still reverberate in our own day and predetermine agendas in the gay community Dellamora links 19th century writers not only with E M Forster at the turn of the century but also with such contemporary novelists and theorists as Edmund White Jacques Derrida and Michael Foucault Apocalyptic Overtures provides a provocative new context for thinking about gender literature and society

Classical Culture and Modern Masculinity Daniel Orrells, 2011-06-09 Since the middle of the eighteenth century the classical world has been seen as foundational and exemplary to Western civilization However the Greeks never invaded and colonised western and northern Europe the way the Romans did and conversely Greece was a difficult place to reach for modern travellers well into the nineteenth century Inevitably therefore the links with ancient Greece were a product of the imagination an exemplary civilization in its politics arts and culture There was one problem however the Greeks it seemed enjoyed pederastic relations And not only this one of Athens most famous teachers Socrates was attracted to boys Daniel Orrells offers a fresh original examination of how modern thinkers in Germany and Britain who were so invested in a model of history that directly traced the European present back to an ancient Greek past negotiated the tricky issue of ancient Greek pederasty Dickens Refigured John Schad, 1996 Reveals the dark underside of Charles Dickens s work in the light of contemporary literary and cultural theory Exploring transgressions and perversities in his work this collection of essays focuses on the marginal figures the Jew the corpse improbable concerns idleness insomnia unlikely spaces the crypt the shop window and radical voices republican homoerotic in his novels Modernism and the Aesthetics of Violence Paul

Sheehan, 2013-06-24 This book addresses the subject of violence as it features in celebrated modernist works from the early twentieth century It traces the modernist fascination with violence back to the middle decades of the nineteenth century when certain writers in France and England sought to celebrate dissident sexualities and stylized criminality

Victorian Keats J. Najarian, 2002-09-24 This book explores the sexual implications of reading Keats Keats was lambasted by critics throughout the nineteenth century for his sensuousness and his effeminacy The Victorians simultaneously identified with imitated and distrusted the unmanly poet Writers among them Alfred Lord Tennyson Matthew Arnold Gerard Manley Hopkins John Addington Symonds Walter Pater and Wilfred Owen came to terms with Keats s work by creating out of the effeminate poet a sexual and literary ally Victorian Sexual Dissidence Richard Dellamora, 2019-04-08 Recent critical and historical work on the late Victorian period has furnished a vocabulary for discussing gender and sexuality These popular terms include categories such as homo hetero patriarchal feminist and masculine effeminate This collection exploits this framework while refining and resisting it in places to show how certain Victorians imagined difference in ways that continue to challenge us today One essay for example traces the remarkable feminist appropriation of male identified fields of study such as Classical philology Others address the validation of male bodies as objects of desire in writing painting and emergent modernist choreography The writings shed light on the diverse interests served by a range of cultural practitioners and on the complex ways in which the late Victorians invented themselves as modern subjects This volume will be essential reading for students of British literary and cultural history as well as for those interested in feminist gay and lesbian studies

Merrill's body of work from the perspective of his epic The Changing Light at Sandover and shows that in his earliest poems and in the volumes preceding The Changing Light Merrill repeatedly expressed his fear of nuclear holocaust and his sense that some momentous revelation was near at hand. Materer demonstrates how apocalyptic motifs also inspire Late Settings, The Inner Room, and A Scattering of Salts. BOOK JACKET
