American Women Artists:

North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century Jules Heller, Nancy G. Heller, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1997 North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century A Biographical Dictionary was created to fill a gap of there being a comprehensive reference work like this available even though the bibliography in English on various aspects of the history of women artists has grown exponentially during the past ten years As researchers the editors have been frustrated many times by being unable to locate basic information about many of the artists included in this volume especially those working outside the United States This leads directly to another reason for producing this particular kind of reference book to try and create a better understanding between and among the artists and art audiences in these countries American Women Artists Charlotte Streifer Rubinstein, 1982 Includes material on the New York School Pop art Feminist Art Movement and Latina artists Creating Their Own Image Lisa E. Farrington, 2005 Creating Their Own Image marks the first comprehensive history of African American women artists from slavery to the present day Using an analysis of stereotypes of Africans and African Americans in western art and culture as a springboard Lisa E Farrington here richly details hundreds of important works many of which deliberately challenge these same identity myths of the carnal Jezebel the asexual Mammy the imperious Matriarch in crafting a portrait of artistic creativity unprecedented in its scope and ambition In these lavishly illustrated pages some of which feature images never before published we learn of the efforts of Elizabeth Keckley fashion designer to Mary Todd Lincoln the acclaimed sculptor Edmonia Lewis internationally renowned for her neoclassical works in marble and the artist Nancy Elizabeth Prophet and her innovative teaching techniques We meet Laura Wheeler Waring who portrayed women of color as members of a socially elite class in stark contrast to the prevalent images of compliant maids impoverished malcontents and exotics others that proliferated in the inter war period We read of the painter Barbara Jones Hogue's collaboration on the famed Wall of Respect even as we view a rare photograph of Hogue in the process of painting the mural Farrington expertly guides us through the fertile period of the Harlem Renaissance and the New Negro Movement which produced an entirely new crop of artists who consciously imbued their work with a social and political agenda and through the tumultuous explosive years of the civil rights movement Drawing on revealing interviews with numerous contemporary artists such as Betye Saar Faith Ringgold Nanette Carter Camille Billops Xenobia Bailey and many others the second half of Creating Their Own Image probes more recent stylistic developments such as abstraction conceptualism and post modernism never losing sight of the struggles and challenges that have consistently influenced this body of work Weaving together an expansive collection of artists styles and periods Farrington argues that for centuries African American women artists have created an alternative vision of how women of color can are and might be represented in American culture From utilitarian objects such as quilts and baskets to a wide array of fine arts Creating Their Own Image serves up compelling evidence of the fundamental human need to convey one's life one's emotions one's experiences on a canvas of one
