Brickyards To Graveyards From Production:

Brickyards to Graveyards Villia Jefremovas, 2012-02-01 Brickyards to Graveyards examines how the overidealized picture of Rwanda as the darling of the world community in the 1980s was shattered amidst the genocide that occurred a decade later. The brick and tile industries of Rwanda provide a microcosm to examine the transformation of gender class and power relations through the precolonial colonial and postcolonial periods and provide insights into the explosive impact of these changes on Rwandan culture and society. The book illustrates how these gender class and power relations played out in times of economic political and demographic crisis and argues that these factors have not changed significantly since the Rwandan Patriotic Front took power in 1994.

After "Rwanda" Jean-Paul Martinon, 2013-09-10 Is writing about peace after the Rwandan Genocide self defeating. Whether it is the intensity of the massacres the popularity of the genocide or the imaginary forms of cruelty however one looks at it everything in the Rwandan Genocide appears to defy once again the possibility of thinking peace anew. In order to address this problem this book investigates the work of specific French and Rwandese philosophers in order to renew our understanding of peace today. Through this path breaking investigation peace no longer stands for an ideal in the future but becomes a structure of inter subjectivity that guarantees that the violence of language always prevails over any other form of violence. This book is the very first monograph in philosophy related to the events of 1994 in Rwanda. Jean Paul Martinon is Programme Leader of the MPhil PhD Programme in Visual Cultures at Goldsmiths College University of London. He has written monographs on a Victorian workhouse Swelling Grounds Rear Window 1995 the idea of the future in the work of Derrida Malabou and Nancy On Futurity Palgrave 2007 the temporal dimension of masculinity The End of Man Punctum 2013 and the event of knowledge in museums The Curatorial A Philosophy of Curating Bloomsbury 2013. In each case he writes in an attempt to make sense of time its staging in museums its advent its gender its neglect the ethics that derive from it and the way it is used and abused to structure human life. www.jeanpaulmartinon.net

Africa's World War Gerard Prunier, 2008-12-31 The Rwandan genocide sparked a horrific bloodbath that swept across sub Saharan Africa ultimately leading to the deaths of some four million people. In this extraordinary history of the recent wars in Central Africa Gerard Prunier offers a gripping account of how one grisly episode laid the groundwork for a sweeping and disastrous upheaval. Prunier vividly describes the grisly aftermath of the Rwandan genocide when some two million refugees a third of Rwanda's population fled to exile in Zaire in 1996. The new Rwandan regime then crossed into Zaire and attacked the refugees slaughtering upwards of 400 000 people. The Rwandan forces then turned on Zaire's despotic President Mobutu and with the help of a number of allied African countries overthrew him. But as Prunier shows the collapse of the Mobutu regime and the ascension of the corrupt and erratic Laurent D sir Kabila created a power vacuum that drew Rwanda Uganda Angola Zimbabwe Sudan and other African nations into an extended and chaotic war. The heart of the book documents how the whole core of the African continent became engulfed in an intractable and bloody conflict after 1998 a devastating war that only wound down following the assassination of Kabila in 2001 Prunier not only captures all this in his riveting narrative but he also indicts the international community for its utter lack of interest in what was then the largest conflict in the world Praise for the hardcover The most ambitious of several remarkable new books that reexamine the extraordinary tragedy of Congo and Central Africa since the Rwandan genocide of 1994 New York Review of Books One of the first books to lay bare the complex dynamic between Rwanda and Congo that has been driving this disaster Jeffrey Gettleman New York Times Book Review Lucid meticulously researched and incisive Prunier's will likely become the standard account of this under reported tragedy Publishers Weekly

Pathological Altruism Barbara Oakley, 2012-01-05 Pathological Altruism is a groundbreaking new book the first to explore the negative aspects of altruism and empathy seemingly uniformly positive traits In fact pathological altruism in the form of an unhealthy focus on others to the detriment of one's own needs may underpin some personality disorders Hyperempathy an excess of concern for what others think and how they feel helps explain popular but poorly defined concepts such as codependency The contributing authors of this book provide a scientific social and cultural foundation for the subject of pathological altruism creating a new field of inquiry Each author's approach points to one disturbing truth what we value so much the altruistic good side of human nature can also have a dark side that we ignore at our peril

Genocide Lives in Us Jennie E. Burnet, 2012-11-19 In the aftermath of the 1994 genocide Rwandan women faced the impossible resurrecting their lives amidst unthinkable devastation Haunted by memories of lost loved ones and of their own experiences of violence women rebuilt their lives from less than nothing Neither passive victims nor innate peacemakers they traversed dangerous emotional and political terrain to emerge as leaders in Rwanda today This clear and engaging ethnography of survival tackles three interrelated phenomena memory silence and justice and probes the contradictory roles women played in postgenocide reconciliation Based on more than a decade of intensive fieldwork Genocide Lives in Us provides a unique grassroots perspective on a postconflict society Anthropologist Jennie E Burnet relates with sensitivity the heart wrenching survival stories of ordinary Rwandan women and uncovers political and historical themes in their personal narratives She shows that women's leading role in Rwanda's renaissance resulted from several factors the dire postgenocide situation that forced women into new roles advocacy by the Rwandan women's movement and the inclusion of women in the postgenocide government Honorable Mention Aidoo Snyder Book Prize Women's Caucus of the African Studies Association

Identity Politics in the Public Realm Avigail Eisenberg, Will Kymlicka, 2011-10-11 In an age of multiculturalism and identity politics many minority groups seek some form of official recognition or public accommodation of their identity But can public institutions accurately recognize or accommodate something as subjective and dynamic as identity Are there coherent standards and fair procedures for responding to identity claims In this book Avigail Eisenberg and Will Kymlicka lead a distinguished team of scholars who explore state responses to identity claims worldwide Their case studies focus on key issues where identity is central to public policy such as the construction of census categories interpretation of antidiscrimination norms and assessment of indigenous rights By illuminating both the risks and opportunities of institutional responses to diversity this volume shows that public institutions can either enhance or distort the benefits of identity politics Much depends on the agency of citizens and the ability of institutions to adapt to success and failure

Vulnerable Bodies Erin K. Baines, 2017-03-02 Examining the response of the United Nations to forced displacement in three cases this insightful work lays bare the breach between advances in global policy on gender equality and humanitarianism and the implementation of these policies In this book Erin Baines uses the examples of Bosnia Rwanda and Guatemala to explore the interplay between the global the national and the local level By providing critical empirical data feminist propositions can be tested against experience Vulnerable Bodies will form an excellent resource for courses in international relations gender studies development studies comparative politics and for UN policymakers and government practitioners

Genocide Alexander Laban Hinton, Kevin Lewis O'Neill, 2009-04-07 Leading anthropologists consider issues of truth memory and representation in the aftermath of genocides in the Balkans Guatemala Indonesia East Timor Germany Nigeria Rwanda and Sudan

Intersectionality and Beyond Emily Grabham, Davina Cooper, Jane Krishnadas, Didi Herman, 2008-08-21 This collection addresses the present and the future of the concept of intersectionality within socio legal studies Including contributions from a range of international scholars this book interrogates what has become a key organizing concept across a range of disciplines most particularly law political theory and cultural studies

Women and War in Rwanda Georgina Holmes, 2013-10-25 Focusing on television media reporting of the 1994 genocide in Rwanda and its aftermath this book explores how African states directly involved in conflict western states with geopolitical interests in Africa s Great Lakes region militia groups human rights activists and NGOs use gendered media narratives strategically often engaging in politics of revisionism and denial to change the behaviour of other actors in the international system Critically analysing BBC documentary films and news features and drawing on interviews with British Rwandan and Congolese journalists filmmakers political commentators and human rights activists Georgina Holmes argues that documentary films and political discussion programmes are postcolonial contact zones wherein competing actors perform in an attempt to influence international political decision making on military and humanitarian intervention and public perceptions of genocide and war The book breaks new ground in understanding how Rwandan and Congolese women actively engage in producing and shaping international public discourse on genocide and war despite being depicted as silent passive victims of conflict This book is essential reading on the gendered dynamics of media reporting on conflicts and will appeal to anyone with an interest in Feminist Security Studies Political Communication Media and Film Studies African Studies Genocide Studies and International Relations
