

The background of the book cover is a collage of historical documents. The top section features a dark, textured band. Below this, the main title is centered in a large, white, serif font. A thin horizontal line separates the title from the author's name, which is also centered but in a smaller, white, serif font. The bottom half of the cover is dominated by a large, detailed botanical illustration of a plant with a thick, gnarled stem and several large, dark, heart-shaped leaves. The plant is set against a background of various historical documents, including a map of North America and a page with dense handwritten text.
