Making Animals Public Professor Gay Hawkins, Dr Ben Dibley, 2024-06-01 Natural history television on the ABC has been one of the public broadcaster's most popular formats For many viewers TV has been an important contact zone for engaging with animals they would never encounter in everyday life These animals have also played a critical role in developing environmental awareness But how did animals get to be on the small screen and what happened to them when they got there Making Animals Public Inside the ABC's Natural History Archive traces the cultural and political evolution of the natural history animal on the ABC It explores different modes of capture from cages to cameras what has come to count as a natural history animal over time and the various sites they have inhabited from nature to the nation to the environment to the planet In early natural history programs audiences were invited to watch as sovereign humans there to learn or be entertained by animals that were exotic or aesthetic or scientifically interesting Whatever the framing these animals were resolutely other In recent times natural history animals have become more assertive They are now posing uncomfortable questions to human viewers about exploitation extinction and mutual implication in catastrophic whole earth processes like climate change Using a wide range of screen examples ranging from the 1950s to the 2020s Making Animals Public focuses on shifting cultural and sociotechnical practices in ABC natural history television Combining science and technology studies screen studies and critical animal studies this book develops an innovative interdisciplinary analysis of how televisual animality is crafted and made believable Making Animals Public analyses the significant role public television has played in filming and circulating a vast array of animals and habitats that had never been seen before How these animals were visualised and accounted for has continually evolved What has remained constant is the fact that natural history television has been a hugely important site for exploring the various politics of human animal relations good and bad and for nurturing environmental awareness in audiences

The Geopolitics of Australia's Regional Relations D. Rumley, 2001-06-30 The origins of this book go back 30 years to the stimulation and interest generated by the political geography seminars led by John House at the University of Newcastle Upon Tyne I was very fortunate to graduate among its extremely capable sporty and enthusiastic class of 68 from where several academic geographers emerged Equally fortunately some of them and their predecessors had already blazed a trail to undertake graduate studies in Canada At the University of British Columbia I was supervised at different times by Julian Minghi and Victor Prescott both of whom are not only extremely capable academics but are also very fine people I owe an enormous debt to John Julian and Victor and to the British and Canadian taxpayers who provided financial support for my University studies In 1974 I began an academic career at the University of Western Australia where I have been ever since save for a two year period from 1991-3 as Professor of Australian Studies in the Department of International Relations at the University of Tokyo Viewing Australia and the Asia Pacific region from this different perspective within an extremely supportive Japanese environment had a profound impact I am especially grateful for the support provided by so many Japanese academic colleagues and friends beginning as early as 1976 Three individuals deserve special mention for their help guidance and enduring friendship George Ohshima Hiroshi Tanabe and Akihiro Kinda

Australia's 'war on terror' Discourse Kathleen Gleeson, 2016-04-08 Too often existing literature has conflated the discourses that enabled the War on Terror ignoring the contextual specificities of the states that make up the Coalition of the Willing Australia's war on terror Discourse fills this gap by providing a full and sustained critical analysis of Australian foreign policy discourse along with the theoretical synthesis for a specific model of critical discourse analysis of the subject The language of then Prime Minister Howard is the primary focus of the book but attention is also paid to the language of key ministers political opponents and other prominent actors The voices of those who challenged the dominant discourse are also considered to shed light on the ways in which discourses can be destabilised Kathleen Gleeson shows how Howard successfully invoked narratives of identity and sovereignty that resonated with his audience and promoted his reworked narrative of Australia whilst facing dissent from many actors who voiced their opposition most successfully when they capitalised on inconsistencies within the discourse

Haunted Spaces in Twenty-First Century British Nature Writing Anneke Lubkowitz, 2020-06-08 This study investigates the figure of haunting in the New Nature Writing It begins with a historical survey of nature writing and traces how it came to represent an ideal of natural space as empty of human history and social conflict Building on a theoretical framework which combines insights from ecocriticism and spatial theory the author explores the spatial dimensions of haunting and hauntology and shows how 21st century writers draw on a Gothic repertoire of seemingly supernatural occurrences and spectral imagery to portray natural space as disturbed uncanny and socially contested Iain Sinclair and Robert Macfarlane are revealed to apply psychogeography's interest in hidden histories and haunted places to spaces associated with wilderness and the countryside Kathleen Jamie's allusions to the Gothic are put in relation to her feminist re-writing of the outdoors and John Burnside's use of haunting is shown to dismantle fictions of the far north This book provides not only a discussion of a wide range of factual and fictional narratives of the present but also an analysis of the intertextual dialogue with the Romantic tradition which enfolds in these texts

Reimagining Urban Nature Chantelle Bayes, 2023-02-15 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and through Knowledge Unlatched Reimagining Urban Nature questions some of the underlying imaginaries which have for so long allowed us humans to develop technologically at great cost to the more than human world and ourselves In urban places cultural and more than human entities are in frequent contact however the non human is often seen as expendable in these human centric places While much important work has been done on improving care for the more rural and wild areas of the globe to really address environmental damage we must work towards reimagining the city These are places where the majority of people live and work and where the majority of decisions are made about the care and protection of many environments within and beyond the city This book contributes to the still under developed field of urban ecocriticism by adding a posthumanist perspective as well as expanding current discussions within urban studies and environmental activism that seek to shift political and cultural imaginaries of urban nature Importantly this investigation is grounded in the Australian and more broadly the Australasian context to allow for the analysis of a more diverse set of voices texts and ecologies in an area still dominated by the northern hemisphere and the Global North

Explore Wilderness Australia Neil Hermes, 1997 Australia is a land of diversity and contains many World Heritage listed wilderness areas of extraordinary beauty With an increasing awareness of environmental issues there is an increased desire to explore the wilderness with as little disturbance as possible to the environment This has led to the development of eco touring and eco resorts which range from basic camps to five star resorts

Regional Perspectives of Nature-based Solutions for Water: Benefits and Challenges Nevelina Pachova, Perlie Velasco, Antonina Torrens, Veeriah Jegatheesan, 2023-01-06 Nature based solutions NbS are solutions inspired or supported by nature They include ecosystem conservation and restoration measures as well as the creation or enhancement of natural processes in man made ecosystems

such as cities Recent interest in NbS has emphasized their importance for urban water management and cities across the world have begun to experiment with them Experiences from different contexts however are not adequately captured and understood This book aims to address this gap by compiling case studies and reviews that explore NbS for urban water management from different regions and perspectives and highlight emerging challenges and opportunities for harnessing their potential

Transcending the Culture-Nature Divide in Cultural Heritage Sally Brockwell, Sue O'Connor, Denis Byrne, 2013-12-13 While considerable research and on ground project work focuses on the interface between Indigenous local people and nature conservation in the Asia Pacific region the interface between these people and cultural heritage conservation has not received the same attention This collection brings together papers on the current mechanisms in place in the region to conserve cultural heritage values It will provide an overview of the extent to which local communities have been engaged in assessing the significance of this heritage and conserving it It will address the extent to which management regimes have variously allowed facilitated or obstructed continuing cultural engagement with heritage places and landscapes and discuss the problems agencies experience with protection and management of cultural heritage places

Australia and Africa Nikola Pijović, 2019-01-28 This book offers analysis of Australia's engagement with Africa as well as the country's rather unique status as a new actor and emerging country in Africa With its empirical originality and comparative contribution the book fills a gap in both the study of Africa's global engagement with emerging countries and in connection with Australia's largely unknown engagement with African states Australia has presented itself as Africa's friend from the south without any colonial baggage and is interested in a long term partnership for trade and development In this context Australia is only one of many new players seeking more intensive engagement with Africa since the end of the Cold War At its core the book argues that because of its largely unacknowledged flawed historical engagement with Africa as well as the political partisanship driving its fickle and volatile contemporary engagement with the continent Australia suffers from an inability to assess its strategic and long term interests i.e. it doesn't know what it wants in or from Africa This makes Australia a rather unique emerging player in Africa while other new actors' engagement with Africa is generally strategic and driven to a large extent by a desire to secure resources and counter the influence of geopolitical rivals Australia's efforts with regard to Africa are more episodic and not about acquiring resources or countering its rivals Hence while immigration globalization trade terrorism and climate change continue to bring Africa and Australia closer together Australia's failure to understand its own interests continues to hamper its engagement with Africa
