Aboriginal Technology Watercraft:

Primitive Technology II David Wescott, 2001-08-20 The Stone Age is the common denominator of mankind and through experimental archeology the relearning and replication of ancient skills we take a step of discovery and understanding into this rich past In this collection drawn from the pages of the Bulletin of Primitive Technology learn to create tools to fabricate more complex technologies master the arts of the bow and arrow build a shelter or fashion clothing from fibers or buckskin Primitive Technology II Ancestral Skills provides the guide to rediscovery of the skills and crafts that bind us all into this great human family The Archaeology of Vernacular Watercraft Amanda M. Evans, 2016-04-19 This volume presents multiple idiographic archaeological studies of vernacular watercraft from North America and the Caribbean Rather than attempt to synthesize all vernacular types this volume focuses on ship construction data recovered through archaeological investigations that has been used to make inferences about culture This collection of case studies including many examples from cultural resource management and graduate student theses presents a thematic exploration of cultural adaptation as expressed through ship construction IKUWA6. Shared Heritage: Proceedings of the Sixth International Congress for Underwater Archaeology Jennifer A. Rodrigues, Arianna Traviglia, 2020-09-03 Celebrating the theme Shared heritage this volume presents the peer reviewed proceedings from IKUWA6 the 6th International Congress for Underwater Archaeology Fremantle 2016 Papers offer a stimulating diversity of themes and niche topics of value to maritime archaeology practitioners researchers students museum professionals and more Aboriginal Maritime Landscapes in South Australia Madeline E. Fowler, 2019-07-23 Aboriginal Maritime Landscapes in South Australia reveals the maritime landscape of a coastal Aboriginal mission Burgiyana Point Pearce in South Australia based on the experiences of the Narungga community A collaborative initiative with Narungga peoples and a cross disciplinary approach have resulted in new understandings of the maritime history of Australia Analysis of the long term participation of Narungga peoples in Australia s maritime past informed by Narungga oral histories primary archival research and archaeological fieldwork delivers insights into the world of Aboriginal peoples in the post contact maritime landscape This demonstrates that multiple interpretations of Australia s maritime past exist and provokes a reconsideration of how the relationship between maritime and Indigenous archaeology is seen This book describes the balance ground shaped through the collaboration collision and reconciliation of Aboriginal and non Aboriginal peoples in Australia It considers community based practices cohesively recording such areas of importance to Aboriginal communities as beliefs knowledges and lived experiences through a maritime lens highlighting the presence of Narungga and Burgiyana peoples in a heretofore Western dominated maritime literature Through its consideration of such themes as maritime archaeology and Aboriginal history the book is of value to scholars in a broad range of disciplines including archaeology anthropology history and Indigenous studies Indigenous Engineering for an Enduring Culture Cat Kutay, Elyssebeth Leigh, Juliana Kaya Prpic, Lyndon Ormond-Parker, 2022-09-28 For many millennia Indigenous Australians have been engineering the landscape using sophisticated technological and philosophical knowledge systems in a deliberate response to changing social and environmental circumstances. These knowledge systems integrate profound understanding of country and bring together knowledge of the topography and geology of the landscape, its natural cycles and ecological systems, its hydrological systems and natural resources including fauna and flora. This enables people to manage resources sustainably and reliably and testifies to a developed contextualised knowledge system and to a society with agency and the capability to maintain and refine accumulated knowledge and material processes. This book is a recognition and acknowledgement of the ingenuity of Indigenous engineering which is grounded in philosophical principles, values and practices that emphasise sustainability, reciprocity, respect and diversity and often presents a much needed challenge to a Western engineering worldview. Each chapter is written by a team of authors combining Indigenous knowledge, skills and academic expertise, providing examples of collaboration at the intersection of Western and Indigenous engineering principles, sharing old and new knowledges and skills. These varied approaches demonstrate ways to integrate Indigenous knowledges into the curricula for Australian engineering degrees in line with the Australian Council of Engineering Deans Position Statement on Embedding Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander perspectives into the engineering curriculum, first published in 2017. The Bark Canoes and Skin Boats of Northern Eurasia Harri Luukkanen, William W.

Fitzhugh, 2020-09-15 The Bark Canoes and Skin Boats of Northern Eurasia is a history and description of bark and skin boat traditions of the native peoples of Scandinavia and northern Russia. The history of northern peoples and cultures is inextricably linked to the technology of water transport. This is particularly true in northern Eurasia where lakes and rivers can connect when overland summer travel is restricted by thick forests or bogs. For thousands of years, native peoples used a variety of bark and skin boats for fishing, hunting, trading, making war and migrating. The Eurasian peoples, responding to their geography, climate and environment, learned to construct and perfect small watercraft made from dug out logs or the bark of birch, aspen, larch and other trees, each variety crafted for its special use and environment. The text describes the design, construction and uses of skin and bark boats for thirty-five traditional cultures ranging from northern Scandinavia to the Russian Far East, from the Bering Strait to northern China and from South Siberia to the Arctic Ocean. Regional chapters use evidence from archaeology, historical illustrations and maps and extensive documentation from ethnography and historical literature to reveal how differences in cultural traditions, historical relationships, climate and geography have influenced the development and spread of watercraft before the introduction of modern planked boats. This definitive volume is richly illustrated with historical photographs and drawings, first person explorer accounts from the 16th-19th centuries and information on traditional bark and skin preparation, wood bending and other construction techniques. The Bark Canoes and Skin Boats of Northern Eurasia presents a first ever overview of northern Eurasian boating traditions and serves as the companion to Charles Adney's and Howard Chapelle's classic The Bark Canoes and Skin Boats of North America 1964.

Sentient Archaeologies Courtney Nimura, Rebecca O'Sullivan, Richard Bradley, 2023-07-15 Archaeology in the past century has seen a major shift from theoretical frameworks that treat the remains of past societies as static snapshots of particular moments in time to interpretations that prioritize change and variability Though established analytical concepts such as typology remain key parts of the archaeologist's investigative toolkit data gathering strategies and interpretative frameworks have become infused progressively with the concept that archaeology is living in the sense of both the objects of study and the discipline as a whole The significance for the field is that researchers across the world are integrating ideas informed by relational epistemologies and mutually constructive ontologies into their work from the initial stage of project design all the way down to post excavation interpretation This volume showcases examples of such work highlighting the utility of these ideas to exploring material both old and new The illuminating research and novel explanations presented contribute to resolving long standing problems in regional archaeologies across Africa Asia Australia Europe and Oceania In this way this volume reinvigorates approaches taken towards older material but also acts as a springboard for future innovative discussions of theory in archaeology and related disciplines Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies II Natasha Fijn, Ian Keen, Christopher Lloyd, Michael Pickering, 2012-07-01 This volume arises out of a conference in Canberra on Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies at the National Museum of Australia on 9-10 November 2009 which attracted more than thirty presenters The Encyclopaedia of Aboriginal Australia David Horton, 1994 Koiki Eddie Mabo Aboriginal religion Sacred sites Taboos Totemism Anthropological Perspectives on Technology Michael B. Schiffer, 2001 These fourteen original essays accept a dual premise technology pervades and is embedded in all human activities By taking that approach studies of technology address two questions central in anthropological and archaeological research today accounting for variability and change These diverse yet interrelated chapters show that to understand human lives researchers must deal with the material world that all peoples create and inhabit Therefore an anthropology of technology is not a separate discrete inquiry instead it is a way to connect how people make and use things to any activity studied ranging from religion to enculturation to communication to art Each contributor discusses theories and methods and also offers a substantial case study These detailed inquiries span human societies from the Paleolithic to the computer age By moving beyond the usual approach of examining ancient technologies particularly chipped stone and low fired ceramics this volume probes for the construction of meaning in the material world across millennia The authors of these essays find technology to be an inclusive and flexible topic that merges with studies of everything else in human activity A provocative and powerful discussion of the role of technology in human cultures At a time when archaeology has become less focused on theory and archaeology and social anthropology seem to fracture farther and farther apart the book is a breath of fresh air Professor John Douglas University of Montana
