Abortion A Collective Story:

Abortion Cara MariAnna, 2002-10-30 Stories about abortion provide a rich ground for looking at the relationship between narrative experience and meaning because in many ways abortion has come to be a defining issue for American culture one that touches on the value we attribute to human life liberty and freedom Using personal stories and interviews MariAnna seeks to show the contours of a vital and diverse collective story a narrative that emphasizes the discursive dynamics at work in any account of the significance of abortion MariAnna seeks to show the contours of a vital and diverse collective story a narrative that emphasizes the discursive dynamics at work in any account of the significance of abortion By attempting to find a range of narrative and experiential extremes she provides diverse and detailed accounts that form a collective story The accounts she provides are about actual experience but because the meaning of that experience is created and conveyed in narrative form there is no neat distinction between a story and the event to which it refers Meaning is embedded in larger cultural narrative the individual stories told about abortion and the intersection between them These stories illustrate how experience itself is mediated by to some extent even a function of narrative modes and currents They illustrate the way autobiographical history is so enmeshed in cultural narrative forms that the private accounts we give of our own lives function as often unacknowledged social commentary Stories about abortion provide a rich ground for looking at the relationship between narrative experience and meaning because in many ways abortion has come to be a defining issue for American culture one that touches on the value we attribute to human life liberty and freedom This book will be of particular interest to scholars students and researchers involved with Women s Studies and Women s Health issues and to general readers concerned with contemporary American social problems Telling Their Stories Jean Peterman, 2019-07-09

Abortion and the right of a woman to control her fertility cross boundaries of race ethnicity and social class In this revealing and in depth study Jean P Peterman focuses on a group of Puerto Rican women in Chicago whose decisions about abortion highlight the contradictions between the sexually conservative ethnic and religious beliefs of this community and the fact that Latina women including Puerto Rican women have abortions at a rate one and a half times as high as non Latinas For more than half the women Peterman interviewed their decision to have an abortion allowed them to maintain opportunities for themselves or to resist male control Despite their resistance to traditional gender roles their Puerto Rican identity remains strong The term cultural story coined by sociologist Laurel Richardson explains how cultures create and support their social worlds their cultural and social frameworks as well as beliefs about home community sex roles and family A collective story is an oppositional story a form of resistance and a catalyst for change In this book the stories recounted by these women involve struggles against barriers intrinsic to their social structure such as poverty prejudice and discrimination that ultimately shape newfound feelings of independence inner strength and control over their own fertility and their lives Encyclopedia of American Civil Rights and Liberties Kara E.
