Aggression Myth And Models:

The Violence Mythos Barbara Whitmer, 1997-10-02 The Violence Mythos presents us with a powerful thesis on the nature and significance of violence in human society. It develops its argument with passion and concern combined with a lucid and sensitive intelligence. The book is sharp and to the point, challenging any complacency with its idealism and its commitment to change. Whitmer is an author with attitude and with spirit. The violence mythos is a collection of beliefs, attitudes, behaviors, and social expectations about violence in Western culture. It includes the war hero myth, the victimizer-victim exploitative dynamic, the theory of innate violence, the mind-body dualism, the myth of male aggression, and the subordination of women, the marginalization of trust, and the development of technology in a tradition of destructive instrumentalism. At the core of the violence mythos is the belief that humans are innately violent. The cultural system is then able to legitimate, rationalize, and use violence to control violent humans and thus becomes a self-reinforcing, self-perpetuating system of direct and indirect means of social control. This is the repetitive cycle of violence in trauma reenactment, transferred intergenerationally through the roles and rituals of the hero-perpetrator myth. The cycle ceases with the understanding of trauma in the trust triad of the interdependent mythos. DHHS Publication No. (OHDS)., 1980

Nonviolent Action Ronald M. McCarthy, Gene Sharp, Brad Bennett, 2013-07-04 This comprehensive guide to research sources and theories about nonviolent action as a technique of struggle in social and political conflicts discusses the methods and techniques used by groups in various encounters. Although violence and its causes have received a great deal of attention, nonviolent action has not received its due as an international phenomenon with a long history. An introduction that explains the theories and research used in the study provides a practical guide to this essential bibliography of English language sources. The first part of the book covers case study materials divided by region and subdivided by country. Within each country, materials are arranged chronologically and topically. The second major part examines the methods and theory of nonviolent action, principled nonviolence, and several closely related areas in social science such as conflict analysis and social movements. The book is indexed by author and subject. The Encyclopedia of Christianity, Volume 1 (A-D) Erwin Fahlbusch, Jan Lochman, John Mbiti, Jaroslav Pelikan, Lukas Vischer, 2025-04-14 A major intellectual resource.
