Agricultural Technology Policy Issues For The International Community:

Governance in International Livestock Research Lindsay Falvey, 2021-10-31 Governance of organizations is less studied than management yet is a key determinant of strategic vision and direction oversight and values An organization's Board selects appoints and monitors Management with which it must maintain a productive interaction with both parties understanding their different roles International research institutions funded by variable contributions from wealthy national governments and philanthropic bodies have specific governance requirements Neither governmental nor UN style bodies offer prescriptions for the expertise and complexity of such legally constituted specialist organizations In the case of such organizations as the International Livestock Research Institute within the CGIAR association governance has been shared across different persons bodies and forces The sharing of such critical responsibilities worked productively when trust was high and funding was approximately aligned to the influence of the sharing parties but otherwise it risked anomalies of imbalance between authority and responsibilities that prejudiced impact The book traces the governance systems of ILRI across five decades of international livestock research as a case study of historical interest that can inform future structures in the international research arena Proceedings of the Warren E. Kronstad Symposium J. Reeves, 2001

Alex, 1998-01-01 This report provides a brief review of recent trends and key policies in strengthening national agricultural research systems Chapters provide a brief overview of the recent evolution of national research systems and a synthesis of policy issues and good practices for developing these systems including the involvement of universities and the private sector They also focus on key policy and institutional reforms for strengthening public research institutions including funding research management and client orientation Finally they discuss implications for the World Bank in its ongoing efforts to strengthen national research systems

Population, Economic Growth and Agriculture in Less Developed Countries Nadia Cuffaro,2003-08-29 In 1950 the world population was 2.5 billion fifty years later there are over 6 billion people The demographic of this explosion has essentially occurred in the developing areas of the world The key to understanding many contemporary development problems that have arisen from this rapid growth is in understanding the relationships between population and the economy This book offers an analysis of such relationships encompassing a review of the major positions in the academic debate Population Economic Growth and Agriculture in Less Developed Countries will serve as a useful introduction and reference tool for students academics and all with an interest in the population debate and economics

Cooperation for competition Gian Nicola Francesconi,2023-08-28 Throughout history rural smallholders have formed various forms of associations to confront access barriers to the market It is estimated that 250 million farmers participate in agricultural cooperatives in developing countries Agricultural cooperatives are considered to be a fundamental pillar of rural development strategies as well as a core institution in the process of governance decentralization and agri business development In Ethiopia where agro ecological conditions are generally favourable 85 percent of the national population lives in rural areas under subsistence or semi subsistence regimes Agricultural cooperatives are advocated by the government as key market institutions to exploit Ethiopia's agricultural growth potential The scope of this study is to improve the understanding of the role played by cooperative organizations in linking Ethiopian smallholder farmers to emerging markets Through exploring the evolution of supermarkets integrated supply chains and global commodity exchange networks this study sheds light on the relationship between rural cooperation and farmers competitiveness Quantitative data that form the basis for this study were collected from the Highland regions of Ethiopia in the period between 2003 and 2006 Findings suggest that cooperatives are not a panacea to boost rural competitiveness Collective action assists smallholders in procuring state subsidy for production but does not necessarily lead to increased commercialization Only when collective action involves collective marketing do farmers become more commercial further improving production volumes and productivity However in the process of commercialization and production intensification quality management is often neglected in Ethiopian agricultural cooperatives This study reveals guidelines for public private partnerships so that cooperative farmers can maximize commercialization and optimize the balance between quality and productivity

The Economics of Agro-Chemicals G.A.A. Wossink,G.C. van Kooten,G.H. Peters,2018-12-20 Published in 1998 This book provides a global overview of agrochemical use against the backdrop of future agricultural production requirements and environmental concerns From acknowledged experts in their field this book examines the relationship between agro chemical use and sustainability producer knowledge and policy analysis for less developed and industrialized economies developing countries has been remarkably productive during the last few decades however the production levels were achieved at the cost of placing more stress on natural resources and the environment This volume brings together state of the art applied practical research related to agriculture development and the environment in the developing world It attempts to distill current knowledge and to summarize it in readable form for development practitioners Where possible authors use specific examples to indicate which approaches have worked and which have not under which conditions and why

Biodiversity in Agroecosystems Wanda W. Collins, Calvin O. Qualset, 1998-08-14 between the diversity of plant and animal species and host dependent agricultural systems Biodiversity in Agroecosystems shows how biodiversity can be thought of not only as the rich make up of a great number of related and competing species within an ecologically defined community but also as the robust behavior and resilience of those species over time and as the endurance of their eco community This book brings to the fore new research on biodiversity in agricultural ecosystems at both micro and macro levels heretofore available only in journals and proceedings papers

The Doubly Green Revolution Gordon Conway, 2019-01-24 Today more than three quarters of a billion people go hungry in a world where food is plentiful A distinguished scientist here sets out an agenda for addressing this situation Initially published in 1997 in the United Kingdom the book is now available in the first edition produced for the Western hemisphere In it the author has updated information to reflect current economic indicators This volume includes a foreword written for the previous edition by Ismail Serageldin of the World Bank The original Green Revolution produced new technologies for farmers creating food abundance A second transformation of agriculture is now required specifically Gordon Conway argues a doubly green revolution that stresses conservation as well as productivity He calls for researchers and farmers to forge genuine partnerships in an effort to design better plants and animals He also urges them to develop or rediscover alternatives to inorganic fertilizers and pesticides improve soil and water management and enhance earning opportunities for the poor especially women
