Apologetics In The Roman Empire Pagans Jews And Christians:

Apologetics in the Roman Empire Mark J. Edwards, Martin Goodman, Simon Price, Chris Rowland, 1999-06-17 This book is the first to tackle the origins and purpose of literary religious apologetic in the first centuries of the Christian era by discussing on their own terms texts composed by pagan and Jewish authors as well as Christians Previous studies of apologetic have focused primarily on the Christian apologists of the second century These and other Christian authors are represented also in this volume but in addition experts in the religious history of the pagan world in Judaism and in late antique philosophy examine very different literary traditions to see to what extent techniques and motifs were shared across the religious divide Each contributor has investigated the probable audience the literary milieu and the specific social political and cultural circumstances which elicited each apologetic text In many cases these questions lead on to the further issue of the relation between the readers addressed by the author and the actual readers and the extent to which a defined literary genre of apologetic developed These studies ranging in time from the New Testament to the early fourth century and including novel contributions by specialists in ancient history Jewish history ancient philosophy the New Testament and patristics will put the study of ancient religious apologetic on to a new footing Apologetics in the Roman Empire.

Pagans, Jews, and Christians. Edited by Mark Edwards, Martin Goodman, and Simon Price in association with Christopher Rowland Mark Edwards, Simon Price, 1999 Christian Intellectuals and the Roman Empire Jared

Secord, 2021-05-06 Early in the third century a small group of Greek Christians began to gain prominence and legitimacy as intellectuals in the Roman Empire Examining the relationship that these thinkers had with the broader Roman intelligentsia Jared Secord contends that the success of Christian intellectualism during this period had very little to do with Christianity itself With the recognition that Christian authors were deeply engaged with the norms and realities of Roman intellectual culture Secord examines the thought of a succession of Christian literati that includes Justin Martyr Tatian Julius Africanus and Origen comparing each to a diverse selection of his non Christian contemporaries Reassessing Justin s apologetic works Secord reveals Christian views on martyrdom to be less distinctive than previously believed He shows that Tatian s views on Greek culture informed his reception by Christians as a heretic Finally he suggests that the successes experienced by Africanus and Origen in the third century emerged as consequences not of any change in attitude toward Christianity by imperial authorities but of a larger shift in intellectual culture and imperial policies under the Severan dynasty Original and erudite this volume demonstrates how distorting the myopic focus on Christianity as a religion has been in previous attempts to explain the growth and success of the Christian movement It will stimulate new research in the study of early Christianity classical studies and Roman history The Jewish Dialogue with Greece and Rome Tessa Rajak, 2018-12-10 Twenty seven interdisciplinary essays on aspects of Judaism in the Greco Roman world exemplifying a wide range of techniques by a well known scholar Three are previously unpublished including a reappraisal of the Judaism and Hellenism debate and a study of the Sardis synagogue The book's overall coherence derives from the author's long standing interests in the analysis of texts as documents of cultural and religious interaction and in how Jewish communities were woven into the social fabric of Greek cities in the Hellenistic and Roman East The four sections are Greeks and Jews Josephus The Jewish Diaspora and Epigraphy and finally Beyond the Greeks and Romans essays which extend into Christian literature and on to the nineteenth century reception of the Judaism Hellenism dichotomy Scholars and students from a wide variety of backgrounds will benefit This publication has also been published in paperback please click here for details Apologetics in Africa Kevin Muriithi Ndereba, 2024-02-01 Divided into four major sections this textbook provides an in depth exploration of the biblical philosophical cultural and practical concerns facing African Christians as they proclaim and defend the gospel in Africa Written by a diverse group of pastors and scholars it provides a much needed interdisciplinary and contextualized approach to apologetics It also seeks to bridge the gap between academic research and ministry practice touching on such topics as hermeneutics biblical criticism church history the nature of evil religious inclusivism Muslim Christian engagement eldership rites domestic violence cults and the digital age Biblically robust contextually relevant ministry oriented and accessible this is a remarkable resource for enriching the life and ministry of Christians in Africa and beyond Acts of the Apostles and the Rhetoric of Roman Imperialism Drew W. Billings, 2017-07-25 Acts of the Apostles is normally understood as a historical report of events of the early church and serves as the organizing centerpiece of the New Testament canon In this book Drew W Billings demonstrates that Acts was written in conformity with broader representational trends and standards found on imperial monuments and in the epigraphic record of the early second century Bringing an interdisciplinary approach to a text of critical importance he compares the methods of representation in Acts with visual and verbal representations that were common during the reign of the Roman emperor Trajan 98-117 CE Billings argues that Acts adopts the rhetoric of Roman imperialism as articulated in the images and texts from the period His study bridges the fields of classics art history gender studies Jewish studies and New Testament studies in exploring how early Christian texts relate to wider patterns in the cultural production of the Roman Empire The Apologists and Paul Todd D. Still, David E. Wilhite, 2024-06-13 This volume examines the use of Paul's writing within the work of ante Nicene apologetic writers It takes apologetics as a broad genre in which many early Christian writers participated offering rhetorical defenses for emerging aspects of doctrine rooted in understanding of the scriptures and often specifically the writings of Paul The volume interacts with the writings of many significant apologetic writers including Melito of Sardis Clement of Alexandria Tatian Tertullian Hippolytus and Cyprian The chapters examine how these early Christian writers used the letters of Paul to develop their own philosophical ideas and defenses of aspects of the emerging Christian faith The internationally renowned contributors have all been specially commissioned for this volume and an afterword by Todd D Still considers the question of whether or not Paul was an apologist himself Scriptural Interpretation and Community Self-Definition in Luke-Acts and the

Writings of Justin Martyr Susan Wendel, 2011-02-14 Scholars of Christian origins often regard Luke Acts and the writings of Justin Martyr as similar accounts of the replacement of Israel by the non Jewish church According to this view both authors commandeer the Jewish scriptures as the sole possession of non Jewish Christ believers rather than of Jews Offering a fresh analysis of the exegesis of Luke and Justin this book uncovers significant differences between their respective depictions of the privileged status that Christ believers hold in relation to the Jewish scriptures Although both authors argue that Christ believers alone possess an inspired capacity to interpret the Jewish scriptures unlike Justin Luke envisages an ongoing role for the Jewish people as recipients of the promises that God pledged to Israel The Oxford Handbook of the Second Sophistic Daniel S. Richter, William Allen Johnson, 2017 Focusing on the period known as the Second Sophistic this Handbook offers guidance on the wide range of textual materials that survive many of which are useful or even core to inquiries of particularly current interest while also keeping a sharp focus on how we can best situate these texts within the broader socio cultural milieu The Writings of Luke and the Jewish Roots of the Christian Way J. Andrew Cowan, 2019-02-21 J Andrew Cowan challenges the popular theory that Luke sought to boost the cultural status of the early Christian movement by emphasising its Jewish roots associating the new church with an ancient and therefore respected heritage Cowan instead argues that Luke draws upon the traditions of the Old Testament and its supporting texts as a reassurance to Christians promising that Jesus life his works and the church that follow legitimately provide fulfilment of God s salvific plan Cowan s argument compares Luke s writings to two near contemporaries Dionysius of Halicarnassus and T Flavius Josephus both of whom emphasized the ancient heritage of a people with cultural or political aims in view exploring how the writings of Luke do not reflect the same cultural values or pursue the same ends Challenging assumptions on Luke s supposed attempts to assuage political concerns capitalize on antiquity and present Christianity as an inner Jewish sect Cowan counters with arguments for Luke being critical of over valuing tradition and defining the Jewish people as resistant to God and His messages Cowan concludes with the argument that the apostle does not strive for legitimisation of the new church by previous cultural standards but instead provides theological reassurance to Christians that God s plan has been fulfilled with implications for broader debate
