Air International Vol 10 1976:

Fighters of the Dying Sun Justo Miranda, 2021-07-11 The first B 29 flew over Tokyo on 1 November 1944 It was a photographic reconnaissance aircraft ironically named Tokyo Rose The Ki 44 fighters of the 47th Sentai took off to intercept it but as it turned out the Superfortress flew at such an altitude and speed that they could not reach it The Ki 44 II Otsu had been specifically designed for this type of interception and could reach the astonishing rate of climb of 5 000 m in four minutes however it was not good enough During the following ten months a devastating bombing campaign of thousands of Superfortresses destroyed 67 Japanese cities and half of Tokyo The cultural shock and the political consequences were huge when it was realised that the Japanese industry was not able to produce the specially heat and stress resistant metallic alloys that were required to manufacture the turbo superchargers needed by the fighters in charge of defending the Japanese mainland They lacked the essential chromium and molybdenum metals to harden the steel This fact thwarted the manufacturing of numerous advanced projects of both conventional fighters and those derived from the transfer of German technology fitted with turbojets and rocket engines They are thoroughly described in this book Soviet Air Power and the Pursuit of New Military Options Phillip A. Petersen, 1979 A Fortran Program for Computing the Pollutant Standards

Index (PSI) Wayne R. Ott, 1978 Energy, 1977 Design and Protocol for Monitoring Indoor Air Quality Niren Laxmichand Nagda, Jerome P. Harper, 1989 The book is derived from a symposium prompted by the growing concern for air quality in homes offices and schools and the need for better design of investigations about indoor air quality problems and solutions Numerous chemical and physical factors influence the indoor concentrations of contaminants The multiplicity of these factors makes the investigation design process complex So well conceived designs and protocols form a crucial starting point for successful measurement programs Design of a study relates to developing a general strategy or approach protocols refers to specific procedures to be followed in conducting a study This document aims to provide information on designs and protocols used in different types of indoor air quality monitoring studies and to supply learning opportunities through shared experience Controlling Automobile Air Pollution Virginia McConnell, 2018-12-20 This volume includes many of the most influential and interesting academic articles related to the economics of mobile source pollution control The papers included explore why vehicles and vehicle markets are unique provide estimates of the type and magnitude of the social costs of driving and examine estimation methods and estimates of the various elasticities of vehicle demand Analysis of the social costs and policies to reduce both traditional air pollutants and greenhouse gas emissions are included Selected articles review the range of evaluation of both regulatory and market based approaches to controlling emissions The complexity of the effects of different policies are emphasized and the unintended consequences of regulation are explored in the context of vehicle emissions reduction policies Solar Energy Update, 1977 Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1977-07
