All Passions Spent:

All Passion Spent Vita Sackville-West, 2017-07-11 Irreverently funny and surprisingly moving All Passion Spent is the story of a woman who discovers who she is just before it is too late After the death of elder statesman Lord Slane a former prime minister of Great Britain and viceroy of India everyone assumes that his eighty eight year old widow will slowly fade away in her grief remaining as proper decorative and dutiful as she has been her entire married life But the deceptively gentle Lady Slane has other ideas First she defies the patronizing meddling of her children and escapes to a rented house in Hampstead There to her offspring s utter amazement she revels in her new freedom recalls her youthful ambitions and gathers some very unsuitable companions who reveal to her just how much she had sacrificed under the pressure of others expectations

All Passion Spent Chandler Brossard, 2010-10-01 Paul Hackett s life had been bounded by conventional morality until he came to New York and met lovely but corrupt Erika Rains Paul soon left his wife for Erika and plunged with her into a weird surrealistic world of violent pleasures and uninhibited lovers until Erika s neurotic mother came to town Then Paul found out what kind of girl Erika really was and where their desperate affair was taking them Here is the intimate revealing story of life and love in New York s Bohemian Underworld It is an off beat tale of tormented people seeking bizarre stimulation in unexpected places It s a world of hoodlums and strip teasers on Park Avenue artists and college girls in Greenwich Village It s a story of one innocent young man trapped by his infatuation for a depraved girl in this modern inferno of the lost and the damned The lure of depravity was fierce Will it swallow Paul alive or will he break free All Passion Spent Victoria Sackville-West, 1967

The Vehement Passions Philip Fisher, 2009-01-10 Breaking off the ordinary flow of experience the passions create a state of exception In their suddenness and intensity they map a personal world fix and qualify our attention and impel our actions Outraged anger drives us to write laws that will later be enforced by impersonal justice Intense grief at the death of someone in our life discloses the contours of that life to us Wonder spurs scientific inquiry The strong current of Western thought that idealizes a dispassionate world has ostracized the passions as quaint even dangerous Intense states have come to be seen as symptoms of pathology A fondness for irony along with our civic ideal of tolerance lead us to prefer the diluted emotional life of feelings and moods Demonstrating enormous intellectual originality and generosity Philip Fisher meditates on whether this victory is permanent and how it might diminish us From Aristotle to Hume to contemporary biology Fisher finds evidence that the passions have defined a core of human nature no less important than reason or desire Traversing the Iliad King Lear Moby Dick and other great works he discerns the properties of the high spirited states we call the passions Are vehement states compatible with a culture that values private selectively shared experiences How do passions differ from emotions Does anger have an opposite Do the passions give scale shape and significance to our experience of time Is a person incapable of anger more dangerous than someone who is irascible In reintroducing us to our own vehemence Fisher reminds us that it is only through our strongest passions that we feel the contours of injustice mortality loss and knowledge It is only through our personal worlds that we can know the world
