The Golden Age of Steam Alex Sharkey, 2020-09-30 The romance with the age of steam and the steam locomotives that revolutionised industry travel and even holidays in the latter part of the 19th century are featured in this book from the development of Richard Trevithick's first working locomotive and Stephenson's Rocket to the iconic engines of the 20th century The Great Western Railway GWR was a crucial part in the growth of steam along with the LNER LMS Southern and Settle Carlisle lines The trains themselves are of course the vital ingredient and some of the classics are highlighted including Evening Star Duchess of Hamilton City of Truro Flying Scotsman and Mallard Despite the demise of steam in the 1950s and 1960s many locomotives have survived thanks to the dedicated volunteers on preservation railways both in the UK and across the globe Scenic journeys available via steam today are also discovered while captivating pictures provide a backdrop for this interesting story Ottley's Bibliography of British Railway History. Second Supplement 12957-19605, 1998 A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins, American Historical Association, Royal Historical Society (Great Britain),1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index The Railway Magazine ,1999 British Railways in the 1960s: Eastern Region Geoff Plumb,2025-08-30 After the Second World War Britain's railways were rundown and worn out requiring massive investment and modernisation The Big Four railway companies were nationalised from 1948 and the newly formed British Railways embarked on a programme of building new Standard steam locomotives to replace older types These started to come on stream from 1951 This programme was superseded by the 1955 scheme to dieselise and electrify many lines and so the last loco of the Standard types was built in 1960 and the steam locomotives had been swept entirely from the BR network by 1968 This series of books The Geoff Plumb Collection is a photographic account of those last few years of the steam locomotives their decline and replacement during the transition years Each book covers one of the former Big Four in the form of the BR Regions they became the Southern Railway London Midland Scottish Railway Great Western Railway and London North Eastern Railway including some pictures of the Scottish lines of the LMS and LNER The books are not intended to convey a complete history of the railways but to illustrate how things were to a certain extent in the relatively recent past and impart some information through comprehensive captions which give a sense of occasion often a last run of a locomotive type or over a stretch of line about to be closed down The photos cover large parts of the country though it was impossible to get everywhere given the overall timetable of just a few years mainly when the author was still a schoolboy with limited time and disposable income to get around Pictures are of the highest quality that could be produced with the equipment then available but they do reflect real life and real times In simple terms a look at a period not so long ago but now gone forever The Golden Age of Steam Oswald Stevens Nock,1973 Government, the Railways and the Modernization of Britain Charles Loft,2006-09-27 This work explains the background to and politics behind the infamous Beeching Report which recommended the closure of a third of Britain's railways The Workers' War Anthony Burton,2014-06-02 The First World War famous for the unprecedented loss of life on a global scale that affected the world forever However it wasn't only in terms of bloodshed that the war rocked the nation but also with its effect on the industrial integrity of Britain This was a war not just of fighting but of technological and industrial advances in all areas from aviation and shipbuilding to food production Industries leapt ahead in terms of development over the four year period from the Wright Brothers in 1903 to the Sopwith Camel in 1917 and the first motorcars to the tank within twenty years On a social level working Britain experienced change as well with the men at war it fell to the women of the country to keep the factories going Here Burton explores one of the foremost paradigm shifts of the First World War
