Telecommunications Research Resources James K. Bracken,Christopher H. Sterling,2021-12-16 As the telecommunication and information field expands and becomes more varied so do publications about these technologies and industries This book is a first attempt to provide a general guide to that wealth of English language publications both books and periodicals on all aspects of telecommunication It is a comprehensive evaluative sourcebook for telecommunications research in the United States that brings together a topically arranged cross referenced and indexed volume in one place The information provided is only available by consulting a succession of different directories guides bibliographies yearbooks and other resources On the one hand it is a directory that describes in detail the major entities that comprise the American telecommunication research infrastructure including federal and state government offices and agencies and private public and corporate research institutions On the other hand it is a bibliography that identifies and assesses the most important and useful reference and critical resources about U S telecommunication history technology industry and economics social applications and impacts plus policy law and regulations and role in the global telecommunication marketplace No existing guide covers all of these aspects in the depth and detail of this volume Mass Communications Research Resources

Christopher Sterling, James K. Bracken, Susan M. Hill, 2016-05-06 This reference book is designed as a road map for researchers who need to find specific information about American mass communication as expeditiously as possible Taking a topical approach it integrates publications and organizations into subject focused chapters for easy user reference The editors define mass communication to include print journalism and electronic media and the processes by which they communicate messages to their audiences Included are newspaper magazine radio television cable and newer electronic media industries Within that definition this volume offers an indexed inventory of more than 1 400 resources on most aspects of American mass communication history technology economics content audience research policy and regulation The material featured represents the carefully considered judgment of three experts two of them librarians plus four contributors from different industry venues The primary focus is on the domestic American print and electronic media industries Although there is no claim to a complete census of all materials on print journalism and electronic media what is available is now too vast for any single guide the most important and useful items are here The emphasis is on material published since 1980 though useful older resources are included as well Each chapter is designed to stand alone providing the most important and useful resources of a primary nature organizations and documents as well as secondary books and reports In addition online resources and internet citations are included where possible Early Television

George Shiers, 2014-07-16 Exploring the beginnings of the most influential communications medium of all time this work covers the history of early mechanical and later electronic means of television It takes a chronological approach to the subject from its theoretical conception in the late 1800s through important market experiments just prior to World War II Coverage is global and multilingual with material from French German Russian and English sources Each chapter begins with a historical essay that places the period in context After 1927 each chapter focuses on a single year The coverage weaves together the discoveries and developments in all countries reporting on the work of solitary inventors as well as research teams The text ties together annotated citations that make up the bulk of each chapter and excerpts from important documents or eyewitness accounts Each chapter also contains a chronology of the advances and breakthroughs during the period covered The entire work is carefully cross referenced and an indexed to provide easy access Chronology Index History of Telecommunications Technology

Christopher H. Sterling, George Shiers, 2000-05-24 Lists some 2 500 English language works related to the history of major telecommunications technologies over the past 175 years In addition to having sections devoted to the various media of communication radio television the Internet etc the work covers institutional histories personal biographies general surveys and reference works This is an updated version of the 1972 work Bibliography of the History of Electronics Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Patently Contestable Stathis Arapostathis, Graeme Gooday, 2013 An examination of the fierce disputes that arose in Britain in the decades around 1900 concerning patents for electrical power and telecommunications Late nineteenth century Britain saw an extraordinary surge in patent disputes over the new technologies of electrical power lighting telephony and radio These battles played out in the twin tribunals of the courtroom and the press In Patently Contestable Stathis Arapostathis and Graeme Gooday examine how Britain's patent laws and associated cultures changed from the 1870s to the 1920s They consider how patent rights came to be so widely disputed and how the identification of apparently solo heroic inventors was the contingent outcome of patent litigation Furthermore they point out potential parallels between the British experience of allegedly patentee friendly legislation introduced in 1883 and a similar potentially empowering shift in American patent policy in 2011 After explaining the trajectory of an invention from laboratory to Patent Office to the court and the key role of patent agents Arapostathis and Gooday offer four case studies of patent centered disputes in Britain These include the mostly unsuccessful claims against the UK alliance of Alexander Graham Bell and Thomas Edison in telephony publicly disputed patents for technologies for the generation and distribution of electric power challenges to Marconi's patenting of wireless telegraphy as an appropriation of public knowledge and the emergence of patent pools to control the market in incandescent light bulbs
