Beachheads Fortyfifth Division Alabama To Anzio:

Beachheads Charles Melvin Kirkpatrick,1994-09 Mobilizing the South Christopher M. Rein,2022-08-23 Throughout its history the United States has fought its major wars by mobilizing large numbers of citizen soldiers While the small peacetime regular army provided trained leadership and a framework for growth the citizen soldier from the minuteman of the American Revolution to Civil War volunteers and the draftees of World War II have successfully prosecuted the nation s major wars But the Army and the nation have never fully resolved the myriad problems surrounding the mobilization and employment of reserve troops National Guard divisions in World War II suffered from neglect during the interwar period and Great Depression and regular Army commanders often replaced or relieved National Guard officers which generated lingering resentment At the same time draftees from across the nation diluted the regional affiliations of many units with a corresponding effect on morale and esprit de corps Chris Rein s study of one division recruited from the Gulf South and employed in the Southwest Pacific Theater in 1944 and 1945 highlights the challenges of reserve mobilization training and the combat deployment of National Guard units His account demonstrates the still strong connections between the local communities that hosted and supported National Guard companies before the war even after an influx of new personnel nationalized the units and they shipped overseas The 31st Division reorganized after combat deployment in World War I consisted primarily of infantry regiments from Florida Alabama Mississippi and until 1942 Louisiana Mobilized for federal service in late 1940 the division participated in the critical Louisiana and Carolina Maneuvers in 1941 but then languished for the next two years as a training organization though it provided trained cadres and replacements for other divisions the Army deployed to Europe and the Pacific In 1944 the division finally shipped overseas enduring the brutal conditions in the Southwest Pacific but successfully conducting landings on the New Guinea coast in support of Gen Douglas MacArthur s island hopping campaign directed at liberating the Philippines After a change in leadership on the second day of the amphibious assault on Morotai the division supported the liberation of Mindanao the southernmost major island in the archipelago before redeploying for demobilization at the end of 1945 Rein s study traces the division s decades of duty from the interwar period when it contended with a series of devastating natural disasters through its mobilization and combat deployment However within the 31st Division s story there are several significant issues that remain highly relevant for reserve deployment today The first centers on the issue of World War II era National Guard leadership The Army implemented a purge of overage and less competent National Guard division commanders in order to replace them with younger officers of the regular Army Maj Gen John C Persons a pre war Birmingham resident and Alabama National Guard officer commanded the division throughout the peacetime mobilization and training and the first operation in New Guinea only to be summarily fired on the second day of the Morotai landings an action not adequately explained in the existing literature The second issue concerns the Army s nationalization of regional units While this policy has the benefit of spreading any casualties across the nation rather than duplicate the horrific losses of the Bedford Boys of the 29th Infantry Division that devastated one small Virginia community it also erodes regional identity and esprit de corps This work is a case study of the strength and weaknesses of units with a regional identity and explores the connections with the home front once that identity erodes It also examines the Dixie Division s operational and strategic evolution but just as importantly details drawn from soldiers correspondence and oral histories to show how their exposure to a larger world including service alongside African American and Filipino units changed their views on race and post war society Abstracts of Selected Periodical Articles of Military Interest Army War College (U.S.). Cook,2019-11-05 Sylacauga Alabama s Marble City is blessed with an abundant natural resource that nurtures both its economy and its cultural heritage Thirty five miles long at least four hundred feet deep and more than a mile wide the Sylacauga Marble Belt yields crystalline white marble frequently compared to the Parian marble treasured by Greek sculptors and the Italian Carrara marble often chosen by Michelangelo Artisans have quarried Sylacauga marble for tombstones since the early 1800s and architects prized it for years as dimension stone for buildings like the United States Supreme Court In the early 1900s Giuseppe Moretti and Gutzon Borglum both chose this marble for magnificent sculptures When granite better able to withstand industrial pollution overtook marble as the preferred architectural stone in the 1930s Sylacauga s quarry owners shifted their focus to the production of ground calcium carbonate GCC a fundamental ingredient in manufactured products from toothpaste foodstuffs and disposable diapers to paints caulks and sealants Many cringe at the idea of blasting and grinding marble into fine powder but GCC is a vital factor in the local economy Thankfully the Magic of Marble Festival first held in 2009 has revitalized interest in the artistic value of Sylacauga marble inspiring sculptors from across the United States and masters from Italy to apply their skills to cream white blocks of this beautiful stone and share their creativity with thousands of residents and visitors each year This is the story of quarry pioneers investors artists and artisans It s also the story of their families who fondly remember their lives along the edge of the hole that provided for them
