Big Wing:

Bader's Big Wing Controversy Dilip Sarkar, 2022-01-12 Group Captain Sir Douglas Bader remains one of the most famous RAF fighter pilots to date perhaps even the most famous of all thanks to Paul Brickhill's best selling 1950s yarn Reach for the Sky and Dany Angel's box office hit of the same name starring Kenneth Moore. Bader a graduate of the RAF College Cranwell and a professional career officer was a gifted sportsman and aerobatic pilot but headstrong. After a crash that led to the amputation of both of his legs the Second World War was this man of action's salvation. Passing a flying test he returned to the RAF first flying Spitfires with 19 Squadron at Duxford. In due course he was posted to 222 Squadron as a flight commander seeing action over Dunkirk. Already newsworthy the swashbuckling legless fighter pilot was also a favorite of his Station Commander Wing Commander A B Woody Woodhall and more importantly his 12 Group Air Officer Commanding Air Vice Marshal Leigh Mallory. In short order therefore Bader was soon elevated to Acting Squadron Leader and given command of 242 Squadron a Canadian Hurricane squadron which he led throughout the Battle of Britain. On 30 August 1940 12 Group was requested to reinforce 11 Group and intercept a raid on an aircraft factory at Hatfield. This was Bader and 242 Squadron's first experience of a mass German raid and many combat claims were subsequently filed. The events that day led Bader to submit a report arguing that the more fighters he had at his disposal the greater would be the execution of the enemy that could be achieved. It was a concept that received support from Leigh Mallory who recognised an opportunity for 12 Group to play a greater part in what was clearly an historic battle. Leigh Mallory authorised Bader to lead three then five squadrons a controversial formation that came to be known as the Duxford Wing or Big Wing. In Bader's Big Wing Controversy Dilip Sarkar not only explores the full story of the people and events that led to the creation of the Big Wing at Duxford he also fully investigates the part that its men and machines played in the Battle of Britain story. Whilst Bader was not personally intending disloyalty as such to his Air Officer Commander in Chief Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Dowding he was as the latter once commented the cause of a lot of the trouble. In his burning desire to propel 242 Squadron and himself its leader into the forefront of the action the newsworthy acting squadron leader found himself used by darker forces men with axes to grind and personal ambitions to further.

Duxford and the Big Wings, 1940-45 Martin W. Bowman, 2009-10-19 A pulsating account of the young RAF and American fighter boys who flew Spitfires Hurricanes Thunderbolts and Mustangs during 1940-45. It is unique in that the story is told using first person accounts from RAF German and American Eagles who fought in the skies over England in the Battle of Britain in the summer of 1940 and the great air offensives over occupied Europe from 1942 onwards. The first five and a half chapters cover the Battle of Britain period when the RAF squadrons fought dog fights with the Luftwaffe and then fought them in gathering strength using the Big Wings to meet the bomber fleets attacking London. The second part of the book covers the Eagle squadron period which was expanded with America's entry into the war. The action moves to the USAAF Big Wings of Thunderbolts and Mustang fighters that flew escort missions and dueled with the Luftwaffe over the continent during the massive bomber raids on German targets in France the Low Countries and the Reich itself A whole host of incredible first hand accounts by British Polish Czech German and American fighter pilots permeate the action and describe the aerial battles as only they can This unique book also includes many accounts and photos that have not previously been seen before while the rich mix of combat accounts from all sides are brought together for the first time in one volume

The Battle of Britain on the Big Screen Dilip

Sarkar,2023-03-23 During the Second World War the British movie industry produced a number of films concerning the war all of which were by necessity heavily myth laden and propagandised Foremost among these productions was The First of the Few which was the biggest grossing film of 1942 In the immediate post war period to start with there were no British aviation war films The first to be released was Angels One Five in 1952 It was well received confirming that the Battle of Britain was a commercial commodity Over the next few years many famous war heroes published their memoirs or had books written about them including the legless Group Captain Douglas Bader whose story Reach for the Sky told by Paul Brickhill became a best seller in 1956 It was followed a year later by the film of the same name which starring Kenneth More dominated that year s box office The early Battle of Britain films had tended to focus upon the story of individuals not the bigger picture That changed with the release of the star studded epic Battle of Britain in 1969 Using real aircraft the film produced in color and on a far larger scale than had been seen on film before was notable for its spectacular flying sequences Between the release of Reach for the Sky and Battle of Britain however much had changed for modern Britain For a variety of reasons many felt that the story of the nation s pivotal moment in the Second World War was something best buried and forgotten Indeed the overall box office reaction to Battle of Britain reinforced this view all of which might explain why it was the last big screen treatment of this topic for many years It was during the Battle of Britain s seventieth anniversary year that the subject returned to the nation s screens when Matthew Wightman s docudrama First Light was first broadcast Essentially a serialisation of Spitfire pilot Geoffrey Wellum s best selling memoir of the same title Wightman cleverly combined clips of Wellum as an old man talking about the past with his new drama footage The series is in the opinion of the author the best portrayal of an individual s Battle of Britain experience to have been made In this fascinating exploration of the Battle of Britain on the big screen renowned historian and author Dilip Sarkar examines the popular memory and myths of each of these productions and delves into the arguments between historians and the filmmakers Just how true to the events of the summer of 1940 are they and how much have they added to the historical record of The Finest Hour

Honour Restored Peter Brown,2016-08-12

At the outbreak of the second World War Air Chief Marshall Dowding was Commander in Chief of RAF Fighter Command which had been set up three years earlier to protect Britain against attacks from the air and the threat of invasion London was subjected to extensive night bombing for several months However our fighter squadrons and defence systems enabled us to maintain master of the air The Battle of Britain ended in 1940 and our island was never again under the threat of invasion Peter Brown former Battle of Britain Spitfire pilot presents a vivid account of Britain under the threat of invasion reminding us of the bravery of our fighter pilots and the courage of the people of Britain who endured the hardships of war and terror bombing from the air Through personal experience and years of meticulous research Peter offers a careful analysis of the battle and the tactics involved vigorously defending Dowding s command and exposing the conspiracy of senior officers that saw him removed from office without due recognition for his achievement times The Baroness Churchill lived in Chartwell with her husband until his death on January 24 1965 She willed the estate to the British Government upon her death but would accept visitors from the United States who were writing about her husband on certain occasions I had the opportunity to walk through the house and gardens with other Rotary members The written word cannot describe all that it meant to me to see the house as it existed in 1929 The historical events which are outlined in this book all took place The dates and locations are accurate but the characters are the products of my overactive imagination Some persons mentioned however are real You cannot write about this period of our history without making reference to elected officials

The Burning Blue Jeremy A. Crang, Paul Addison, 2010-07-15 It was of course the Battle of Britain or rather its conclusion that prompted one of Winston Churchill's most memorable pieces of oratory that has its epitome in the sentence Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few If the Battle of Britain had been lost it is very likely the New Order to which the Axis powers had pledged themselves would have become global with unthinkable consequences for the world afterwards The importance of the Battle of Britain cannot be exaggerated though inevitably in the succeeding years the accretion of myth has brought about many distortions This multi-faceted symposium emerged from the Centre of Second World War Studies at Edinburgh University with the aim in the words of the editors to reassess established themes while opening up new ones After a masterly introduction by Brian Bond the book is divided into six parts Before the Battle The Battle The View from Afar Experience and Memory The Making of a British Legend and The Significance The contributors are Klaus A Maier Malcolm Smith Horst Boog Sebastian Cox Sergei Kudryshov Richard P Hallion Theodore F Cook Hans Ekkehard Bob Wallace Cunningham Nigel Rose Owen Dudley Edwards Angus Calder Tony Aldgate Adrian Gregory Jeremy Lake and John Schofield Paul Addison and Jeremy A Crang and Richard Overly No survey could be more wide-ranging or fascinating First published in 2000 to mark the 60th anniversary it is now being reissued in 2010 to mark the 70th anniversary But it is terrific It's not only an acknowledgement of the heroism of the fighter pilots and all the ancillary crew but a serious contribution to the historical record Seventeen contributors write about the Battle from pretty much every conceivable angle and Addison and Crang have chosen them well This is not an automatically worshipful book it poses questions about the morality of war the existence of heroism the reliability of memory But it treats the subject honestly and with justice And it tells us why we won because it would appear it helps to come from a society that is sceptical of authority rather than in blind unthinking terror of it Nicholas Lezard Guardian This book is a first class piece of work stimulating informative and concise Brian Holden Reid Times Higher Education Supplement This is a nugget of a book it assembles most readably a range of authoritative and international views on the Battle its history and its significance Air Chief Marshall Sir Michael Graydon Royal United Services Institute This is a much told story but the varied viewpoints of the 20 contributors to Burning Blue ranging from a fascinating essay by Owen Dudley Edwards on the air war as reflected in children s literaturer to the memories of pilots who fought in it on both sides give an impressive breadth and depth And even though it strips away hindsight and refuses to burnish legends what is left is still one of the most remarkable stories in the whole of British history The British empire didn t last a thousand years but the man was right this truly was its finest hour David Robinson The Scotsman On the Edge Robert G. Brown,1999 Voice of a Voyage Doann Houghton-Alico,2016-03-01 In 2001 sixty year old author Doann Houghton Alico and her husband embarked on a ten year sailing circumnavigation visiting forty one countries and sailing over 43 000 nautical miles As an award winning author of both technical books and poetry she brings her love of research into the tangents of the stories she encountered and her lyrical voice to create a picture of the world few of us know The author an adept observer and an enthusiastic participant in what life has to offer writes of her love of the sea at night far away from land but she also describes such exotic places as remote islands of the South Pacific where black magic and wives bought for three boar tusks are the norm She evokes the spirit of people and places by revisiting their cultural and natural history and exploring beneath the surface Her portrayals are riveting drawing the reader quickly into an intimate chronicle of tragedy and beauty Doann s poetry and photographs add additional dimensions to her evocative writing Doann relishes places like the sandy forbidding uninterrupted views of the Sudanese desert from the marsas inlets of the Red Sea where flamingoes and camels abound but also addresses the more serious issues she witnessed such as survival in areas of exploding populations decreasing food supplies climate change and the impact of war She describes both in a visceral yet insightful way Her inquisitiveness the allure of exploration and a strong curiosity about the world inspire her writing Whether floating in the sea eye to eye with a humpback whale escaping pirates or drinking tea in a bombed out Eritrean alley with refugees Doann takes you there
