Artists Impressions In Architectural Design:

Artists' Impressions in Architectural Design Bob Giddings, Margaret Horne, 2003-09-02 Artists Impressions in Architectural Design analyses the ways in which architects have presented their designs for clients and the public both historically and contemporarily It spans a period from the fifteenth to the twenty first century Architects have become familiar with change The passage of time has brought with it new and revived styles of architecture as well as innovative tools and techniques for their representation The result is that while some methods show a view of the architect's concept for a building others offer an almost real experience of the intended architecture This book provides a rare and valuable study in which the exciting technological developments of today are placed in context with the rich heritage of the past It offers an opportunity to learn how architects have chosen to represent their ideas The authors dare to glimpse into the future and hopefully offer some reassurance for tomorrow

Primary Care Centres Geoffrey Purves, 2009 Primary Care Centres explores the process of planning and designing buildings for frontline medical practice Taking as a starting point the concept that good design contributes directly to healthy living the book shows beneficial effects that a good design brief can bring to the staff patients and visitors of health care facilities It outlines principles for designs that are both practical and useful International case studies of healthcare facilities in the UK US Japan and South Africa provide technical detail and give best practice examples of well designed healthy living centres with an emphasis on building performance and catering for the latest government policy developments This new edition provides trusted guidance on investing in effective architecture for architects and project managers involved in the design of healthcare facilities Dr Geoffrey Purves is Chairman of Purves Ash LLP a firm of Architects in Newcastle upon Tyne He has held a range of professional appointments with the Royal Institute of British Architects and is an Honorary Research Associate at Durham University

Integrated Architecture Liangyong Wu, 2013-12-01 Integrated Architecture is both a historical and contemporary work The book was first published in 1989 by Wu Liangyong one of contemporary China's most influential architects and theoreticians with the title A General Theory on Architecture His eminence is also recognised by the international architectural community above all the group of architectural and urban planning theoreticians battling for a more decisive reform to the concepts methodologies and practices presiding over the construction and requalification of the contemporary metropolis

First met professor Wu Liangyong in 2005 at the Faculty of Architecture at the Tsinghua University of Beijing his Faculty Wu Liangyong founded the school in 1949 at the age of 24 together with Liang Sicheng the father of modern Chinese architectural studies From this moment more than sixty seven years ago professor Liangyong has remained a central figure in Beijing's academic community He remains a constant source of inspiration not only national to education reforms and above all theoretical methodological and operative research into architecture the city and the territory He is a rare figure present throughout a lengthy historical period witness the world over to tumultuous upheavals in society and its cities A period whose most dramatic and exalting manifestations were perhaps to be found in China a period of war of hope of revolutions of great leaps forward of presumptions horrors errors new leaps forward and incomprehensible economic growth of irreversible social and cultural metamorphoses and what interests us most as architects of staggering urban growth and territorial transformations The intellect of this minute and genteel gure held fast against the storms of history The observation of events and the humanist and scienti c principles of his personal culture continuously nourished an increasingly more effective re ection on the meaning of architecture in today s world He also clearly saw its inextricable ties to the substance of the city and the impossibility to substitute the gure of the architect scientist humanist and artist A few years after our meeting having absorbed direct lessons from Wu s work as an architect and theoretician I proposed an Italian translation of an anthology of his writings The material was to be drawn from his many books and essays on architecture and the city published continuously over the course of his incomparable career Professor Wu Liangyong responded with a challenge in lieu of this anthology of texts he proposed a full translation in Italian and English of a book published twenty years ago 1989 s A General Theory on Architecture Given the pace of cultural debate it would not have been out of place to imagine a book rmly sedimented in history I understood instead that it was a milestone in the expression of Wu Liangyong s ideas a benchmark that in all likelihood served as the starting point for his later theories even the most recent Published in other fundamental essays they range across the vast eld of human settlements touching on all components of the man made environment Lucio Valerio Barbera Joseph Pike James Downs,2021-02-01 The first of its kind Joseph Pike The Happy Catholic Artist is a detailed biography of the popular artist of the same name When he died in 1956 the Catholic Herald referred to him as a distinguished artist though until this biography little has been written about his life and work Constructing the Future Ghassan Aouad,Angela Lee,Song Wu,2006-12-05 This essential book introduces the concept of nD modelling which takes the theory of computer modelling of the built environment to n dimensions nD modelling utilizes a decision support tool for systematic assessment and comparison between various design parameters such as cost accessibility maintainability sustainability crime energy whole life costing acoustics and scheduling among others Constructing the Future is a comprehensive book which provides a global perspective on the concept of nD modelling and examines its impact on construction from development to application The text offers a critique of competing views that seek to justify or ignore the role of nD modelling in the future of construction as well as describing developments in this area which are already happening worldwide Presenting a thorough critique of competing views as well as providing guidance on best practice Constructing the Future is a bold well grounded and illustrated title introducing construction management professionals and researchers to this exciting new development in the quest for a single building and product model Advances in Construction ICT and e-Business Srinath Perera,Bingunath Ingirige,Kirti Ruikar,Esther Obonyo,2017-05-08 This internationally conducted study of the latest construction industry practices addresses a broad range of Information and

Communication Technology applications Drawing on research conducted in the US and UK this book presents the state of the art of various ebusiness processes and examines BIM virtual environments and mobile technologies Innovation is a theme that runs throughout this book so in addition to the direct impact of these new technical achievements it also considers the management styles that helped them to emerge Examples from industry are illustrated with case studies and presented alongside research from some of the best known academics in this field This book is essential reading for all advanced students and researchers interested in how ICT is changing construction management and the construction industry

Architecture, Actor and Audience Iain Mackintosh, 2003-09-02 Explores the contribution the design of a theatre can make to the theatrical experience It also examines the failure of many modern theatres to appeal to audiences and theatre people
