Asia Gas Study:

South East Asia Gas Study, In addition to existing gas producing countries there are several emerging countries in Southeast Asia that are promoting gas production and use Since rising energy needs will increase Asia's dependency on imported oil the further development of gas resources will play an increasingly important role in improving energy security and in providing environmental protection for the region This study a follow up to the IEA's Asia Gas Study 1996 describes the current situation uncertainties and future challenges in the gas sectors of the Philippines Vietnam and Myanmar Over the next ten years the role of natural gas will expand steadily in these countries The development of gas sectors could also encourage the construction of a gas pipeline network in Southeast Asia Asia Gas Study International Energy Agency, 1996 Natural Gas in Asia Ian Wybrew-Bond, Jonathan P. Stern, David Fridley, Akira Miyamoto, Keun-Wook Paik, Najeeb Jung, 2002 The future energy needs of China India and the rest of Asia are considerable Will gas supplies respond to this expanding demand Large scale projects will have to be implemented in Russia the Central Asian Republics and the Middle East to bring required supplies to Asian markets in the years to 2020 This book assesses the economic opportunities political obstacles and other challenges to these projects China's Integration in Asia Robert Ash, 2013-12-16 A collection of authoritative papers on key issues for China's relations with other countries in the region in terms of trade defence regional development energy security and social political and economic development China and India Hong Zhao, 2013-06-19 The book sheds understanding on the relations between development and global energy security by looking at China and India It addresses the following issues what is the new definition of energy security how does it affect global politics and international relations What are the energy security concerns of China and India and what policies and approaches have they taken to deal with energy security issues Since China and India are searching for oil and gas in the Middle East Africa and Southeast Asia will their acquisition efforts conflict with the interests of other energy giants such as the U S Japan and will their growing overseas activities challenge U S policy in those energy rich regions The book provides insight into what the new global energy order may be and how the growth models and energy structures may shape the economic growth and energy It analyzes both the state centered approach and market oriented approach in the global quest for energy resources It also examines how China and India can adopt a cooperative approach for beneficial relations The book will be of interest to anyone who is keen to learn how the World especially U S A can accommodate and adapt to the new global energy dynamics China and India as new players in global energy markets Mining in the Asia-Pacific Terry O'Callaghan, Geordan Graetz, 2017-09-06 This book provides the most comprehensive survey of mining activity and the principal challenges confronting the resources industry in the Asia Pacific region today and presents new theoretical and practical insights into the political and business risks faced by mining companies operating in the region from both academic and corporate perspectives It focuses on the exploration production and trade of the principal commodities coal iron ore uranium oil and gas and gold as well as the emerging commodities unconventional gas and rare earth minerals provides the reader with a valuable understanding of resource activity in the region In addition it also integrates and draws attention to eight key issue areas which have the potential to pose significant risks challenges and opportunities for the industry going forward which include sustainable development resource governance and economic contributions declining ore grades and territorial expansion community aspects of mining mining and indigenous peoples climate change and impact assessment The contributors to this volume are experts in their respective fields and the diversity of voices makes this book a must read for scholars industry participants investors and policy makers with an interest in mining in the Asia Pacific

Re-imagining Border Studies in South Asia Dhananjay Tripathi,2020-12-23 This book presents a radical rethinking of Border Studies Framing the discipline beyond conventional topics of spatiality and territoriality it presents a distinctly South Asian perspective a post colonial and post partition region where most borders were drawn with political motives ignoring the socio cultural realities of the region and economic necessities of the people The authors argue that while securing borders is an essential function of the state in this interconnected world crossing borders and border cooperation is also necessary The book examines contemporaneous and topical themes like disputes of identity and nationhood the impact of social media on Border Studies trans border cooperation water sharing between countries and resolution of border problems in the age of liberalisation and globalisation It also suggests ways of enhancing cross border economic cooperation and connectivity and reviews security issues from a new perspective Well supplemented with case studies the book will serve as an indispensable text for scholars and researchers of Border Studies military and strategic studies international relations geopolitics and South Asian studies It will also be of great interest to think tanks and government agencies especially those dealing with foreign relations

The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies for 1994 Patt Leonard,Rebecca Routh,1997-05-31 This text provides a source of citations to North American scholarships relating specifically to the area of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union It indexes fields of scholarship such as the humanities arts technology and life sciences and all kinds of scholarship such as PhDs

Competition in Hong Kong's Gas Industry Pun-Lee Lam,Sylvia Chan,2000 Over the past decade the gas industries of many countries have undergone substantial change Gas utilities have been corporatized or privatized and competition has replaced monopoly Despite this current of liberalization Hong Kong s gas industry is still dominated by one company with limited competition from other fuel suppliers This study reviews the liberalization of the gas industries in the United States United Kingdom Australia New Zealand Japan South Korea and Taiwan Although the industry ownership and regulatory structure in Hong Kong may not be the same as in those countries and areas the authors believe lessons can be learned from their experiences

Asia's Energy Trends And Developments (In 2 Volumes) Mark Tat Soon Hong,Amy V R Lugg,2013-04-04 With Asia especially China and India leading world energy consumption Asian energy trends are now of global interest with deep implications for the world economy and geopolitics Understanding the issues often require real life case scenarios This two volume compilation presents the key topics on Asia s energy trends and developments that were presented at the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies in Singapore as part of its Energy Series Programme A wide range of topics is covered from nanotechnology clean energy hydropower renewable energy and nuclear power to bilateral relations energy security and energy efficiency all with the unifying energy theme in the context of Asia The nature of the issues is clearly illustrated in the case studies The chapters are authored by international experts and innovators in their respective fields from academia government and private sectors providing their perspectives on the energy debate in Asia This compilation will provide the reader with insights into the overall trends and developments that have shaped and continue to influence energy policy economic strategy and geopolitics in Asia The case studies offer an especially useful reference point for experts and an understanding of the complex issues for laypersons
