Back Of Bourke A Study Of Land Appraisal:

The Broken Promise of Agricultural Progress Cameron Muir, 2014-06-05 Food and the global agricultural system has become one of the defining public concerns of the twenty first century Ecological disorder and inequity is at the heart of our food system This thoughtful and confronting book tells the story of how the development of modern agriculture promised ecological and social stability but instead descended into dysfunction Contributing to knowledge in environmental cultural and agricultural histories it explores how people have tried to live in the aftermath of ecological imperialism The Broken Promise of Agricultural Progress An environmental history journeys to the dry inland plains of Australia where European ideas and agricultural technologies clashed with a volatile and taunting country that resisted attempts to subdue and transform it for the supply of global markets Its wide ranging narrative puts gritty local detail in its global context to tell the story of how cultural anxieties about civilisation population and race shaped agriculture in the twentieth century It ranges from isolated experiment farms to nutrition science at the League of Nations from local landholders to high profile moral crusaders including an Australian apricot grower who met Franklin D Roosevelt and almost fed the world This book will be useful to undergraduates and postgraduates on courses examining international comparisons of nineteenth and twentieth century agriculture and courses studying colonial development and settler societies It will also appeal to food concerned general readers

The British Empire at its Zenith A. J. Christopher, 2018-03-16 This title originally published in 1988 examines the network of states and the political and economic systems which bound the British Empire together This book examines each country and how the empire made its mark in the shape of urban form public buildings and rural land patterns An overall assessment of the Imperial heritage is attempted as a pointer to the unity which existed between the many diverse lands for a brief period in their history

A Century of British Geography Ron Johnston, Michael Williams, 2022-09-11 These essays trace the evolution of British geography as an academic discipline during the last hundred years and stress how the study of the world we live in is fundamental to an understanding of its problems and concerns Never before has such an ambitious and wide ranging review been attempted and never before has it been done with so much knowledge and passion The principal themes covered in this volume are those of environment place and space and the applied geography of map making and planning The volume also addresses specific issues such as disease urbanization regional viability and ethics and social problems This lively and accessible work offers many insights into the minds and practices of today s geographers

Australia in the Global Economy Barrie Dyster, David Meredith, 2012-09-13 Explores the evolution of Australia s position in the global economy from the start of the twentieth century through to today

The Archaeology of Contact in Settler Societies Tim Murray, 2004-10-14 Several decades of research into the archaeology of contact in North America have laid the foundations for the global exploration of the archaeology of European colonization It is significant however that archaeologists unlike historians and geographers have yet to develop a global account of contact and its consequences This edited work presents case studies from nations developed from British settlement so as to allow historical archaeologists to examine differences and similarities between the histories of modern colonial societies world wide Written by an international team of experts the work shows that historical archaeologies can assume marvellously different and suggestive forms when examined from the periphery Furthermore the imperatives of the periphery could result in different perspectives on North American and European archaeological contexts The work also examines the role of a global vision of the historical archaeology of colonialism in providing a new basis for the evolution of the nation

History, Theory and Philosophy in Archaeology Tim Murray, 2025-02-03 This collection of essays the bulk of which have been previously published by Emeritus Professor Tim Murray ranges widely across contemporary archaeological theory and the history of archaeology while retaining a focus on the archaeology of Australia The collection is introduced by a new essay The evolution of archaeological theory that sets the agenda for the collection In doing this Murray explores the critical intersection between archaeology philosophy and the social and cultural context of its practice in Australia and elsewhere The collection brings together ideas about time scale and strategies for the evaluation of archaeological concepts and categories which are then applied to an understanding of significant issues raised by writing the archaeology of Australia from the Pleistocene to the present The essays have been drawn from over 30 years of research and writing about archaeological inquiry into the theories and methods of the discipline and will be of particular interest to archaeologists historians the managers of archaeological heritage and advocates of the importance of indigenous perspectives on the histories of post colonial societies

Australia in the Global Economy David Meredith, Barrie Dyster, 2000-01-17 This up to date volume considers Australian economic development in light of worldwide political and social developments arguing that the Australian economy is an integral part of the world economy and subject to the same trends across the globe The book also focuses on domestic factors that have shaped the growth of the Australian economy such as the growth of exports the role of foreign capital and the positive contribution of migrants The authors also consider the Gulf Wars the East Asian financial crisis and globalization

Beyond the Black Stump Alan Mayne, 2008 Historians have had little to say about the lands that stretch beyond the black stump These essays from around the country build inland Australia into our national history crisscrossing both the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Contributors are Lorina Barker Amanda Barry Badger Bates Peter Bishop Nici Cumpston Jean Duruz Charles Fahey Lionel Frost Heather Goodall Jenny Gregory Patricia Grimshaw Rodney Harrison Rick Hosking Darrell Lewis Alan Mayne Chrissiejoy Marshall Margaret Somerville and Richard Waterhouse

The Colonial Earth Tim Bonyhady, 2003-04-01 Using the work of great Australian painters and poets as an entry point this cultural study counters the popular myth that early colonial settlers were environmentally irresponsible and offers both aesthetic and historical evidence that suggests nature always figured prominently in the Australian national consciousness Preserving endangered species protecting forests maintaining public land rights and staving off climate change were at issue in the first environmental law of Australia enacted in 1788 Parliamentary debates personal observations and artistic renderings explore the texture and dimensions of early Australian environmentalism Droughts, Cyclones & Floods Don Garden,2017-02-03 Droughts Floods and Cyclones is the most comprehensive study of this phenomenon examining the impact of a series of El Ni o events in Australia New Zealand Fiji and French Polynesia in the second half of the nineteenth century
