Human Development Report 1998 United Nations Development Programme, Consumption for Human Development United Nations Development Programme. Human Development Report Office, 1998 This valuable volume contains seven of the actual papers commissioned for the 1998 Human Development Report which focused on the theme Consumption for Human Development These unique papers address the economic political dimensions of human development This academic publication makes a significant contribution to the exciting world wide debate that has emerged in the past several years on issues of human development Human Development Report 1998 United Nations Development Programme, 1998 Prepared by a team of eminent economists distinguished development professionals Human Development Report 1998 reviews the challenges that all people all countries face to forge consumption patterns that are more environmentally friendly more socially equitable that meet basic needs of all that protect consumer health safety This book marshals environmental developmental technological moral arguments to present a critique of consumption patterns that are inimical to human development an agenda for action to create an enabling environment for sustainable consumption for human development

Amartya Sen's Work and Ideas Bina Agarwal, Jane Humphries, Ingrid Robeyns, 2013-09-13 This unique volume is the first to examine Nobel Laureate Amartya Sen's ideas through the lens of gender His humanitarian approach to economics has been crucial to the development of several aspects of feminist economics and gender analysis This book outlines the range and usefulness of his work for gender analysis while also exploring some of its silences and implicit assumptions The result is a collection of groundbreaking and insightful essays which cover major topics in Sen's work such as the capability approach justice freedom social choice agency missing women and development and well being Perspectives have been drawn from both developing and developed countries with most of the authors applying Sen's concepts to cultural geographic and historical contexts which differ from his original applications Significant highlights include a wide ranging conversation between the book's editors and Sen on many aspects of his work and an essay by Sen himself on why he is disinclined to provide a definitive list of capabilities These essays were previously published in Feminist Economics Human Development Report 2001, Consumption, Globalization and Development J. James, 2000-04-19 This volume is concerned with the complexities of the relationship between globalization and different groups of consumers in developing countries Globalization it is argued can yield frustration and disappointment as well as welfare gains for consumers it may but does not necessarily displace local products and via the rapid recent expansion of the mass media it offers policy makers new opportunities to deal with acute social problems Readings in Human Development Sakiko Fukuda-Parr, A. DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS : A CRITICAL PERSPECTIVE APARAJITA MUKHERJEE, SAUMYA CHAKRABARTI, 2016-05-16 Development economics is a branch of study that focuses on improving the economies of developing countries examining both macroeconomic and microeconomic factors relating to the structure of a developing economy The main objective of the book is to present major issues of development economies It takes up an analysis of the limitations of accumulation centric growth process and introduces the readers to alternative development paradigms along with their critics Organised into fourteen chapters the initial chapters discuss historical background of less developed economies post colonial development patterns in the context of establishment of the World Bank the IMF and the GATT economic models like classical development ideas Marxian model the Marginalist economies Alfred Marshall and the neoclassical school and ideas of Keynes The book skillfully explains some of the development macro models based on industry agriculture interactions structure of agriculture population and role of market and state in economic development The later chapters delve on capability approaches to development and thematic deficiency of traditional development economics and relation between inequality poverty and development In this context the book takes up the analysis of the concept of Development Management and its application to less developed economies India Social Development Report 2023 Indira Hirway,2024-01-20 This report highlights that gender inequalities and women s subordination in India are caused by two formidable macro structures patriarchy and the exclusion of unpaid work from the macro economy Both these structures reinforce each other and negatively impact women s empowerment Patriarchy imposes subordination on women and forces a disproportionately higher share of unpaid domestic services and unpaid care onto them This is unfair and unjust a violation of basic human rights Other structures like race religion and caste cut across these main structures The selected papers in this report show how patriarchy causes gender inequalities in all critical dimensions of women s life on the one hand and how unpaid domestic services and unpaid care sustains the macro economy and its growth on the other The contributors discuss pathways to integrate unpaid work with the macro economy such that the strength of patriarchy declines and at the same time gender equality is promoted To put it differently unless the structures are addressed by integrating unpaid work inequalities cannot be addressed effectively The report emphasizes that this is the only way to move to real macroeconomics The papers have explored pathways to break these structures gradually to achieve gender equality and empower women Though the path is challenging it is feasible to reach the goal of pervasive gender equality Partner to the Poor Paul Farmer,2010-04-21 For nearly thirty years anthropologist and physician Paul Farmer has traveled to some of the most impoverished places on earth to bring comfort and the best possible medical care to the poorest of the poor Driven by his stated intent to make human rights substantial Farmer has treated patients and worked to address the root causes of their disease in Haiti Boston Peru Rwanda and elsewhere in the developing world In 1987 with several colleagues he founded Partners In Health to provide a preferential option for the poor in health care Throughout his career Farmer has written eloquently and extensively on these efforts Partner to the Poor collects his writings from 1988 to 2009 on anthropology epidemiology health care for the global poor and international public health policy providing a broad overview of his work It illuminates the depth and impact of Farmer's contributions and demonstrates how over time this unassuming and dedicated doctor has fundamentally changed the way we think about health, international aid, and social justice. A portion of the proceeds from the sale of this book will be donated to Partners In Health.
