African Classical Age Eastern And Southern Africa In World History 1000 Bc To Ad 4:

An African Classical Age Christopher Ehret, 1998 In An African Classical Age Christopher Ehret brings to light 1 400 years of social and economic transformation across Africa from Uganda and Kenya in the north to Natal and the Cape in the south The book offers a much needed portrait of this region during a crucial period in which basic features of precolonial African societies and cultures emerged Combining the most recent findings of archaeology and historical linguistics the author demonstrates that from 1000 B C through the fourth century A D eastern and southern African history was invigorated by technological change and intricately reshaped by the clash of distinctive cultures Contrary to common presumption he argues Africans of this period were not isolated actors on their own historical stage but direct and indirect participants in the major trends of contemporary world history such as the Iron Age and the first great rise of long distance commercial enterprise In telling their important story Ehret shows how powerful yet delicate a tool language evidence can be in detecting both the details and the long term contours of the past The culmination of twenty five years of research this sweeping historical survey fundamentally challenges how we view the place not only of eastern and southern Africa but of Africa as a whole in the early eras of world history Now available in paperback An African Classical Age has become an essential resource for scholars of linguistics archaeology world history and African studies History and the Testimony of Language Christopher Ehret, 2011 This book is about history and the practical power of language to reveal historical change Christopher Ehret offers a methodological guide to applying language evidence in historical studies He demonstrates how these methods allow us not only to recover the histories of time periods and places poorly served by written documentation but also to enrich our understanding of well documented regions and eras A leading historian as well as historical linguist of Africa Ehret provides in depth examples from the language phyla of Africa arguing that his comprehensive treatment can be applied by linguistically trained historians and historical linguists working with any language and in any area of the world The Cambridge World History: Volume 4, A World with States, Empires and

Networks 1200 BCE-900 CE Craig Benjamin, 2015-04-16 From 1200 BCE to 900 CE the world witnessed the rise of powerful new states and empires as well as networks of cross cultural exchange and conquest Considering the formation and expansion of these large scale entities this fourth volume of the Cambridge World History series outlines key economic political social cultural and intellectual developments that occurred across the globe in this period Leading scholars examine critical transformations in science and technology economic systems attitudes towards gender and family social hierarchies education art and slavery The second part of the volume focuses on broader processes of change within western and central Eurasia the Mediterranean South Asia Africa East Asia Europe the Americas and Oceania as well as offering regional studies highlighting specific topics from trade along the Silk Roads and across the Sahara to Chaco culture in the US southwest to Confucianism and the state in East Asia The Visual Dynamics of Art, Black Care, and Ethics in South African Art

Raél Jero Salley, 2025-02-18 This book interprets relationships between art and ethics in the context of contemporary South African art Nearly three decades after inaugurating political freedom in a democratic form the infrastructure of South Africa faces palpable issues and challenges to the social fabric The social tension involves painful struggles for decolonization and violent debates about the removal of colonial statues change of colonial names transformation of universities and curriculum change This book does critical work in art history theory criticism and visual culture by looking from and looking after social differences to interpret the potential impact of contemporary media and mediation Artists examined include Zanele Muholi, Makhosini Makhosini, Dineo Seshee Bopape, Hasan and Husain Essop, and Kemang Wa Lehulere This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history contemporary art visual culture art theory ethics aesthetics philosophy of art and African studies

The Oxford Handbook of African Archaeology Peter Mitchell, Paul Lane, 2013-07-04 Africa has the longest and arguably the most diverse archaeological record of any of the continents It is where the human lineage first evolved and from where Homo sapiens spread across the rest of the world Later it witnessed novel experiments in food production and unique trajectories to urbanism and the organisation of large communities that were not always structured along strictly hierarchical lines Millennia of engagement with societies in other parts of the world confirm Africa's active participation in the construction of the modern world while the richness of its history ethnography and linguistics provide unusually powerful opportunities for constructing interdisciplinary narratives of Africa's past This Handbook provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis of African archaeology covering the entirety of the continent's past from the beginnings of human evolution to the archaeological legacy of European colonialism As well as covering almost all periods and regions of the continent it includes a mixture of key methodological and theoretical issues and debates and situates the subject's contemporary practice within the discipline's history and the infrastructural challenges now facing its practitioners Bringing together essays on all these themes from over seventy contributors many of them living and working in Africa it offers a highly accessible contemporary account of the subject for use by scholars and students of not only archaeology but also history anthropology and other disciplines

Maize and Grace James C. McCann, 2007-09-15 Sometime around 1500 AD an African farmer planted a maize seed imported from the New World That act set in motion the remarkable saga of one of the world's most influential crops one that would transform the future of Africa and of the Atlantic world Africa

s experience with maize is distinctive but also instructive from a global perspective experts predict that by 2020 maize will become the world s most cultivated crop James C McCann moves easily from the village level to the continental scale from the medieval to the modern as he explains the science of maize production and explores how the crop has imprinted itself on Africa s agrarian and urban landscapes Today maize accounts for more than half the calories people consume in many African countries During the twentieth century a tidal wave of maize engulfed the continent and supplanted Africa s own historical grain crops sorghum millet and rice In the metamorphosis of maize from an exotic visitor into a quintessentially African crop in its transformation from vegetable to grain and from curiosity to staple lies a revealing story of cultural adaptation As it unfolds we see how this sixteenth century stranger has become indispensable to Africa s fields storehouses and diets and has embedded itself in Africa s political economic and social relations The recent spread of maize has been alarmingly fast with implications largely overlooked by the media and policymakers McCann s compelling history offers insight into the profound influence of a single crop on African culture health technological innovation and the future of the world s food supply

Origins Geoffrey Blundell, 2006 Africa occupies a very special position in the origin and development of humankind It is on this continent as exciting new discoveries of fossil material have revealed that our pre human ancestors evolved and first acquired the key characteristics that give us our humanity The evidence of this immense surge of human creativity is incontrovertible the tools uncovered the art painted and engraved on rocks the representations of symbolic thought This book celebrates humanity s origins in Africa and the rich archaeological heritage of the continent It has been written by some of the world s foremost authorities on Africa s past under the editorship of Geoffrey Blundell the Origin Centre s Curator
