African Population Relocation In South Africa:

African Population Relocation in South Africa Gerry Maré, 1980 Population and Development Projects in Africa International Geographical Union. Commission on Population Geography, 1985-10-10 Articles comparison of the impact of development projects on population dynamics and rural development trends in Sudan and other African countries discusses rural urban disparity social implications of internal migration and deliberate rural population geographic distribution land settlement schemes to increase self reliance among refugees and nomads forced population removals under Apartheid etc examines changing agrarian structures and labour demand in response to drought vs Increased water supply Bibliography graphs Migration in South and Southern Africa Pieter Kok (Zuid-Afrika.), 2006 Covers three broad areas macro level migration trends in sub Saharan Africa micro level factors in South African migration and a synthesis of current migration theory Power and Resistance in an African Society Les Switzer, 1993 Imagine a history of the United States written from the perspective of the African American community Imagine that the story of this community is told not only from the viewpoint of its leaders the middle class elites but also from the viewpoint of sharecroppers industrial workers and others living on the margins of American culture And finally imagine that this is not only about political and economic relations but also about race class gender and religious relations about the lived experiences of one community that both reflect and represent fundamental issues of power and resistance in an entire society This is what Les Switzer has tried to do with his book Power and Resistance in an African Society Scholars who have read it suggest that this is the first attempt to write a history of South Africa from the perspective of one subordinate community in South Africa The result is a transformed history from below The names dates events and issues of conventional textbook history lose their meaning in the process of reconstructing a history that seeks to free the African from the domain of South Africa's ruling culture The book also offers a unique contribution to African studies in sub Saharan Africa because it explores the material and symbolic manifestations of power and resistance in a pre colonial colonial and post colonial setting The Ciskei region in the eastern Cape was selected as the case study This was the historic zone of conflict between European and Bantu speaking African in southern Africa the Cape Xhosa wars in this region lasting a century The contemporary African nationalist movement in South Africa first emerged in a variety of organizational forms in the Ciskei during the 1870s and 1880s The strategy of petitionary protest probably persisted longer here than anywhere else in South Africa in the post colonial period but popular resistance found a variety of windows outside organized African politics The Ciskei for example was a focal point of rural resistance in the 1920s and early 1930s and again between the early 1940s and early 1960s The gap between rural and urban dissidents in South Africa moreover was first bridged in the Ciskei and its environs during the 1952 Defiance Campaign Finally the Ciskei's segregated African reserve where economic conditions were judged to be most serious emerged as a primary site of struggle on South Africa's periphery during the 1970s and 1980s The focus of this study is on the Xhosa speaking peoples who lived in the Ciskei region in the first century after conquest To highlight the linkages between regional and national issues the Xhosa in the Ciskei are examined in the context of unfolding events in the Cape Colony and in the unified settler state of South Africa after 1910 A distinct plurality of voices would be formed in the complex interplay between color consciousness and class as this community sought space for itself within the domain of South Africa's ruling culture Migration in Southern Africa Pragna Rugunanan, Nomkhosi Xulu-Gama, 2022-05-30 This open access Regional Reader proposes new ways of theorizing migration in Southern Africa by arguing that traditional western forms of theorizing do not adequately fit the South South migration context It explores the existing definitions of a migrant with a view to conceptualise a definition which will speak to the complexities envisioning a more inclusive Southern African region The book investigates the various levels of migration moving from the local rural to urban and urban to rural to cross border migration middle class versus working class migrant household livelihoods livelihoods procurement versus wage earning social capital networks and how they make meaning of their circumstances in a foreign space It also acknowledges the intertwined issues of gender and class as important in analyzing migration processes and the chapters feature both in varying dimensions As such the book provides a great resource for students academics and policy makers Survival in the 'Dumping Grounds' Laura

Evans, 2019-05-27 Survival in the Dumping Grounds examines a defining aspect of South Africa's recent past the history of apartheid era relocation While scholars and activists have long recognised the suffering caused by apartheid removals to the so called homelands the experiences of those who lived through this process have been more often obscured Drawing on extensive archival and oral history research this book examines the makings and the multiple meanings of relocation into two of the most notorious apartheid dumping grounds established in the Ciskei bantustan during the mid 1960s Sada and Ilinge Evans examines the local and global dynamics of the project of bantustan relocation and develops a multi layered analysis of the complex histories and ramifications of displacement and resettlement in the Ciskei Internal migration and development planning in South Africa (Dr) Ilse Eigelaar-Meets, 2025-02-19 This scholarly book aims to illustrate the importance of incorporating internal migration data into development planning initiatives and processes to gain insight into both short and long term social changes This publication draws on census data pertaining to internal migration flows in the Northern Cape and Western Cape provinces of South Africa The author analyses compares and presents data across three post apartheid periods 1996 2001 2001 2006 and 2006 2011 to illustrate how current forces drive and direct migration flows and how this impacts the social dynamics within the two provinces This book highlights three significant shifts when comparing the two provinces pre and post 1994 internal migration trends First it examines the change in the political context framing mobility Second it explores the change in the types of internal migration flows sustaining urbanisation Third and lastly it analyses the changing profile of mobile migrants in the Northern Cape and Western Cape Internal migration and development planning in South Africa makes a compelling case for a strategic and coordinated approach by governments by demonstrating the influence of political and economic forces on internal migration flows and their impact on community social dynamics Such an approach is essential to address the increasing developmental constraints and challenges posed by internal migration in post apartheid South Africa State Building and Democracy in Southern Africa Pierre Du Toit,1995 What can South Africa learn from Botswana arguably Africa s most successful democracy and Zimbabwe one of South Africa s closest neighbours In this comparative study the author explores these southern African countries with the aim of highlighting those factors that appear to ensure a successful transition to democracy State Building and Democracy in Southern Africa Pierre Du Toit,1995 6 The Contest for Hegemony Contemporary Migration to South Africa Aurelia Segatti,2011-08-23 Building on global interest in migration development the volume draws attention to one of the most important migration systems in sub Saharan Africa It reviews South Africa s approach to international migration in the post apartheid period from a regional development perspective highlighting key policy issues debates and consequences The authors find at least three areas where migration is resulting in important development impacts First by offering options to those affected by conflict and crises in a region that has limited formal disaster management and social protection systems Second by mitigating shortcomings and distortions in regional labour markets Third by providing support to struggling rural economies and ever expanding urban areas in terms of livelihoods and social capital transfers Chapter One consists of a study of the country s historical experience of migration and in particular analyses the changes in official attitudes throughout the twentieth century indicating the roots of contemporary ideas and policy dilemmas Chapters Two Three Four and Five complement this analysis of the South African State s capacity to reform and manage the South African migration situation by looking at often neglected dimensions the first explores the question of skilled labour a crucial question given the unbalanced structure of the South African labour market the second examines the impact of migration on local government in South African cities and specifically implications for urban planning service delivery health security and political accountability the third analyses the nature of undocumented migration to South Africa and the challenges it raises to both State and non State actors The book concludes with an examination of health as a critical issue when examining the relationship between migration and development in South Africa in light of recent empirical data
