Patrick J. Ebewo

African Theatre Southern Africa

Martin Banham

African Theatre Southern Africa:

African Theatre Martin Banham, James Morel Gibbs, Femi Osofisan, David Kerr, 2004 This third volume in the annual African Theatre series focuses exclusively on women in theatre and performance in Africa Topics include the role of female goddesses in Egyptian theatre early urban women performers in Asmara Eritrea an interview with Ghanaian concert party actress Adeline Ama Buabeng and women's theatre and performance in Algeria Kenya Uganda and Nigeria African Theatre Women features the work of Tess Onwueme and the complete script of Glass House by South African playwright Fatima Dike Book reviews and notices about recent conferences prizes and events enhance this annual publication and make it an invaluable resource for understanding the vital and creative energy of women in African theatre today

Explorations in Southern African Drama, Theatre and Performance Patrick J. Ebewo, 2017-05-11 In spite of the rich repertoire of artistic traditions in Southern Africa particularly in the areas of drama theatre and performance there seems to be a lack of a corresponding robust academic engagement with these subjects While it can be said that some of the racial groups in the region have received substantial attention in terms of scholarly discussions of their drama and theatre performances the same cannot be said of the black African racial group As such this collection of thirteen chapters represents a compendium of critical and intellectual discourses on black African drama theatre and performance in Botswana Lesotho South Africa and Swaziland The topics covered in the book include amongst others ritual practices interventionist approaches to drama textual analyses and the funeral rites viewed as performance of the South African liberation icon Nelson Mandela The discussions are rooted mainly using African paradigms that are relevant to the context of African cultural production The contributions here add to the aggregate knowledge economy of Southern Africa promote research and publication and provide reading materials for university students specialising in the performing arts As such the book will appeal to academics theatre scholars cultural workers and arts administrators arts practitioners and entrepreneurs the tourism industry arts educators and development communication experts

Theatre and Cultural Struggle in South Africa Robert Kavanagh, 1985 A pioneering study of South African theatre under Apartheid exploring the ways in which the stage became an arena for the battle against oppression

A History of Theatre in Africa Martin Banham, 2004-05-13 This book aims to offer a broad history of theatre in Africa The roots of African theatre are ancient and complex and lie in areas of community festival seasonal rhythm and religious ritual as well as in the work of popular entertainers and storytellers Since the 1950s in a movement that has paralleled the political emancipation of so much of the continent there has also grown a theatre that comments back from the colonized world to the world of the colonists and explores its own cultural political and linguistic identity A History of Theatre in Africa offers a comprehensive yet accessible account of this long and varied chronicle written by a team of scholars in the field Chapters include an examination of the concepts of history and theatre North Africa Francophone theatre Anglophone West Africa East Africa Southern Africa Lusophone African theatre Mauritius and Reunion and the African diaspora African Theatre Martin Banham, James Morel Gibbs, James Gibbs, Femi Osofisan, 2002 The contributions to this volume in the African Theatre series make clear that the role of women in the theatre across the continent has changed as control is mainly held by literate elites and women's traditional standing has been lost to men

African Theatre David Kerr, Jane Plastow, 2011 Examines the impact of new media such as video and YouTube and the use of multi media on live and recorded performance in Africa Focuses on the ways African theatre and performance relate to various kinds of media Includes contributions on dance popular video with an emphasis on video drama and soaps from Eastern and Southern Africa and the Nigerian Nollywood phenomenon the interface between live performance and video or still photography and links between on line social networks and new performance identities As a group the articles raise from original angles the issues of racism gender identity advocacy and sponsorship Volume Editor DAVID KERR is Professor of English in the University of Botswana and is the author of African Popular Theatre Series Editors Martin Banham Emeritus Professor of Drama James Gibbs Senior Visiting Research Fellow University of the West of England Femi Osofisan Professor of Drama at the University of Ibadan Jane Plastow Professor of African Theatre University of Leeds Yvette Hutchison Associate Professor Department of Theatre Performance Studies University of Warwick Women, Politics and Performance in South African Theatre Today Lizbeth Goodman, 2012-10-02 First published in 1999 Women Politics and Performance in South African Theatre Today is an important contribution to Performance A Century of South African Theatre Loren Kruger, 2019-11-28 Theatre is not part of our vocabulary Sipho Sepamla's provocation in 1981 the year of famous anti apartheid play Woza Albert prompts the response yes indeed it is A Century of South African Theatre demonstrates the impact of theatre and other performances pageants concerts sketches workshops and performance art over the last hundred years Its coverage includes African responses to pro British pageants celebrating white Union in 1910 such as the Emancipation Centenary of the abolition of British colonial slavery in 1934 organized by Griffiths Motsieloa and HIE Dhlomo through anti apartheid testimonial theatre by Athol Fugard Maishe Maponya Gcina Mhlophe and many others right up to the present dramatization of state capture inequality and state violence in today's unevenly democratic society where government has promised much but delivered little Building on Loren Kruger's personal observations of forty years as well as her published research A Century of South African Theatre provides theoretical coordinates from institution to public sphere to syncretism in performance in order to highlight South Africa's changing engagement with the world from the days of Empire through the apartheid era to the multi lateral and multi lingual networks of the 21st century The final chapters use the Constitution's injunction to improve wellbeing as a prompt to examine the dramaturgy of new problems especially AIDS and domestic violence as well as the better known performances in and around the Truth and Reconciliation Commission Kruger critically evaluates internationally known theatre makers including the signature collaborations between animator designer William Kentridge and Handspring Puppet Company and highlights the local and transnational impact of major post
